Introduction

English language arts (ELA) is a Required Area of Study in Saskatchewan's Core Curriculum. The purpose of this curriculum is to outline the provincial requirements for Grade 8 English Language Arts.

Time Allotment

The Saskatchewan Ministry of Education has established a provincial policy for the amount of time that must be allocated to language arts instruction at each grade level. The required time allotted to Grade 8 is as follows:

Required Minutes for English Language Arts
300 minutes per week or approximately 60 minutes each day

Curriculum Contents

This curriculum provides the intended learning outcomes that Grade 8 students are expected to achieve in English language arts by the end of the year. Indicators are included to provide the breadth and depth of what students should know and be able to do in order to achieve the outcomes.

The learning experiences planned for students will support student achievement of the provincial Goals of Education through attending to the Broad Areas of Learning for Saskatchewan and the Cross-curricular Competencies described on the following pages.

The English language arts curriculum provides:

- direction for supporting student achievement of the Broad Areas of Learning and the Cross-curricular Competencies
- the K-12 aim and goals for English language arts in Saskatchewan
- characteristics of an effective English language arts program
- grade 8 English Language Arts outcomes and indicators
- sample assessment and evaluation criteria for outcomes in English language arts
- connections with other areas of study.

Additional support resources will appear online.

Core Curriculum

Core Curriculum is intended to provide all Saskatchewan students with an education that will serve them well regardless of their choices after leaving school. Through its various components and initiatives, Core Curriculum supports the achievement of the Goals of Education for Saskatchewan. For current information regarding Core Curriculum, please refer to Core Curriculum: Principles, Time Allocations, and Credit Policy (August 2007) found on the Saskatchewan Ministry of Education website.

Broad Areas of Learning

There are three Broad Areas of Learning that reflect Saskatchewan's Goals of Education. K-12 English language arts contributes to the Goals of Education through helping students achieve knowledge, skills, and attitudes related to these Broad Areas of Learning.

Building Lifelong Learners

Students who are engaged in constructing and applying English language arts knowledge naturally build a positive disposition towards learning. Throughout their study of English language arts, students gain understandings, skills, and strategies to become more competent and confident language users.

Building a Sense of Self and Community

To learn English language arts, students need to not only use the English language but also to interact with each other. Through the English language arts, students learn about themselves, others, and the world around them. They use language to define who they are and to explore who they might become. They use language to interact and respond effectively with others and to build community.

Building Engaged Citizens

In the English language arts, students learn how language can empower them to make a difference in their personal, peer, family, and community lives. Language gives them a sense of agency and an ability to make a difference in their community and the world in which they live.

Cross-curricular Competencies

The Cross-curricular Competencies are four interrelated areas containing understandings, values, skills, and processes which are considered important for learning in all areas of study. These competencies reflect the Common Essential Learnings and are intended to be addressed in each area of study at each grade level.

Developing Thinking

Learners construct knowledge to make sense of the world around them. They develop understanding by building on what is already known. This key competency concerns the ability to make sense of information, experiences, and ideas through thinking contextually, critically, and creatively. English language arts is inquiry-based, and students use their language and thinking skills to explore a range of topics, issues, and themes.

- thinking and learning contextually
- thinking and learning creatively
- thinking and learning critically.

Developing Identity and Interdependence

The ability to act autonomously in an interdependent world requires an awareness of the natural environment, of social and cultural expectations, and of the possibilities for individual and group accomplishments. It assumes the possession of a positive self-concept and the ability to live in harmony with others and with the natural and constructed world. Achieving this competency requires understanding, valuing, and caring for oneself; understanding, valuing, and respecting human diversity and human rights and responsibilities; and understanding and valuing social and environmental interdependence and sustainability. English language arts requires students to explore ideas and issues of identity, social responsibility, diversity, sustainability, and efficacy. Students study texts and ideas about personal and philosophical; social, historical, and cultural; imaginative and literary; communicative; and environmental and technological topics.

- understanding, valuing, and caring for oneself
- understanding, valuing, and respecting human diversity and human rights and responsibilities
- understanding and valuing social, economic, and environmental interdependence and sustainability.

Developing Literacies

Literacies are multi-faceted and provide a variety of ways, including the use of various language systems and media, to interpret the world and express understanding of it. Literacies involve the evolution of interrelated skills, strategies, and knowledge that facilitate an individual's ability to participate fully and equitably in a variety of roles and contexts – school, home, and local and global communities. To achieve this

- constructing knowledge related to various literacies
- exploring and interpreting the world through various literacies
- expressing understanding and communicating meaning using various literacies.

- using moral reasoning processes
- engaging in communitarian thinking and dialogue
- contributing to the well-being of self, others, and the natural world.

Students will also develop their abilities in using and learning about the appropriate before, during, and after strategies, and the pragmatic, textual, syntactical, semantic/lexical/morphological, graphophonic, and other language and communication cues and conventions. (See Glossary.)

competency requires developing skills, strategies, and knowledge related to various literacies in order to explore and interpret the world and communicate meaning. English language arts requires students to use different literacies, including language literacy, effectively and contextually to represent ideas and understanding in multiple, flexible ways.

Developing Social Responsibility

Social responsibility is how people positively contribute to their physical, social, and cultural environments. It requires the ability to participate with others in accomplishing shared or common goals. This competency is achieved through using moral reasoning processes, engaging in communitarian thinking and dialogue, and contributing to the well-being of others and the natural world. Socially responsible learners contribute to their physical, social, and cultural environments. In English language arts, students explore their social responsibility and work toward common goals to improve the lives of others and the natural and constructed world.

Aim and Goals of K-12 English Language Arts

The K-12 aim of the Saskatchewan English language arts curricula is to help students understand and appreciate language, and to use it confidently and competently in a variety of situations for learning, communication, work, life, and personal satisfaction.

Goals are broad statements identifying what students are expected to know and be able to do upon completion of study in a particular subject (e.g., English language arts). The K-12 goals of the Saskatchewan English language arts curricula are to:

1. Comprehend and Respond (CR). Students will extend their abilities to view, listen to, read, comprehend, and respond to a range of contemporary and traditional grade-level texts in a variety of forms (oral, print, and other texts) from First Nations/Métis and other cultures for a variety of purposes including for learning, interest, and enjoyment. (Refer also to sidebar)
2. Compose and Create (CC). Students will extend their abilities to represent, speak, and write to explore and present thoughts, feelings, and experiences in a variety of forms for a variety of purposes and audiences. (Refer also to sidebar.)

3. Assess and Reflect (AR). Students will assess their own language skills; discuss the skills of effective viewers, representers, listeners, speakers, readers, and writers; and set goals for future improvement.

These goals, while reflecting what is important in English language arts, also provide “throughlines” to and from the Cross-curricular Competencies and the Broad Areas of Learning. Teachers need to ensure that the “throughlines” from each subject area are considered when planning and teaching.

Questions Derived from the Aim and Goals

The questions on page 6 focus on the long-term abilities associated with the overall purpose and goals for the English language arts program. They recur in and give an overall focus to all instruction, assessment, and evaluation in English language arts.

Comprehend and Respond (CR):

- What is this text saying? Explicitly? Implicitly?
- How was the text created?
- What forms and conventions were used?
- In what context and for what purpose was the text created?
- How can I interpret the text?
- What evidence do I have to support this interpretation?
- What does this text have to say about identity, social responsibility, and efficacy (making a difference)?
- Whose voices are heard and whose are not?
- Why are viewing, listening, and reading important?

Compose and Create (CC):

- What do I know, and how can I express that?
- How can I best express these ideas for this audience and purpose?
- What forms can I use? What are the conventions of those forms?
- How can I communicate most clearly and effectively?
- Do my messages demonstrate a deep understanding of the subject matter?
- Are my compositions and presentations well-crafted, fully developed, coherent, and appropriate to my purpose and audience?
- To what extent is the voice, pen, or screen mightier than the sword?

Assess and Reflect (AR):

- Why is effective language usage and effective communication important?
- What are the characteristics of effective viewers, listeners, readers, representers, speakers, and writers? What do they do, feel, look like, or sound like?
- What are my teacher's and my personal expectations for viewing, listening, reading, representing, speaking, and writing?
- What are my personal goals for becoming a more effective viewer, listener, reader, representer, speaker, and writer? How will I achieve them?

An Effective English Language Arts Program

An English language arts program is effective when it is purposeful, dynamic, fulfilling, and authentic. This curriculum invites and challenges educators to think about education, schooling, and English language arts as it might be, rather than the way they might know it to be. How can schooling and English language arts be more purposeful, dynamic, fulfilling, and authentic? How can it help students become competent, confident users of the English language and, at the same time, become knowledgeable about themselves, their community, and the world as a whole in a deep and meaningful way? How can it help them find fulfillment, be socially responsible, and act in ways that will make their community and world better places? How can it help them become effective self-directed, self-regulated, strategic, and collaborative learners to meet the demands of personal, social, work, and global life in the 21st century?

“When a learner makes connections and learning takes place, it is because of focused teaching ....” (Fullan, Hill, & Crévola, 2006, p. 34). Focused teaching requires:

- a detailed map of what is expected that students will know and be able to do, clearly stated in outcomes and associated indicators
- a detailed knowledge of how best to teach to these learning outcomes in the classroom, including explicit teaching strategies and methods and classroom routines
- a set of powerful and aligned assessment and evaluation tools tied to the outcomes (Fullan, Hill, & Crévola, 2006, pp. 36-37).

This curriculum is designed to be the starting point for the detailed map, knowledge, and assessment and evaluation tools that teachers must know and understand in order to help students learn effectively through the English language arts. It is the starting point that will allow English language arts teachers “to develop and deepen students’ understanding of important ideas and processes in the disciplines equipping them to transfer their learning in meaningful and effective ways, and cultivating lifelong habits of mind” (Wiggins & McTighe, 2007, p. 13).

Language literacy is the foundation to a lifelong learning process that empowers individuals to draw on the gifts of mind, body, heart, and spirit toward the fulfillment of personal and family life and community responsibility.

Language literacy involves a continuum of interrelated skills, practices, and learnings that contribute to the development of an individual's ability to understand, communicate, and participate in a variety of roles (e.g., parent, citizen, and worker) and settings (e.g., in the home, at work, in education, and in the community). These include listening and speaking, reading and writing, viewing and representing. (Saskatchewan Literacy Commission, 2004, p. 1)

What ELA Is	What ELA Is Not
Using visual, multimedia, oral, and written communication competently, appropriately, and effectively for a range of purposes	Using only print resources with a fictional emphasis for a limited range of purposes (usually isolated to a school task)
Recognizing the central role of language in communicating, thinking, and learning	Letting “literature” drive the program
Setting meaningful and relevant contexts for teaching and learning including connections to students’ experiences, knowledge, and personal and cultural identity	Giving isolated language activities and using unrelated texts
Helping students know what and why they are learning and doing something (i.e., outcomes, indicators, and exemplars)	Having only teacher awareness of the outcomes and not sharing them with students
Teaching and learning for “deep understanding” (including using compelling questions as a focus)	Asking and answering solely teacher-directed questions
Making meaning of ideas or information received (when viewing, listening, and reading)	Answering knowledge/comprehension questions individually after reading print texts
Creating meaning for themselves and others (through representing, speaking, and writing)	Using only limited forms of communicating, usually writing
Using critical, creative, and metacognitive processes to make sense of ideas, information, and experiences	Accessing and accepting isolated information at face value
Creating, critiquing, and applying knowledge, not just “having” it	Gaining knowledge but not using it
Participating, contributing, and making connections to the world beyond the classroom	Not considering the implications of issues within the broader community
Questioning students’ assumptions about the world and their place in it	Accepting a Eurocentric and complacent view of the world
Using a variety of strategies (e.g., Before, During, and After) depending upon the task	Following only teacher-directed skills and strategies and spending time on isolated skill and drill
Understanding how language really works (e.g., discourse, registers, sociolinguistic features and functions, cues and conventions) and consciously using “grammatical” conventions for purpose and effect	Learning “grammar” for “grammar’s” sake
Engaging in inquiry learning	Doing a project or, if time permits, a series of activities to bring closure
Recognizing and respecting a range of worldviews	Not thinking critically about whose worldview is presented
Using assessment and evaluation to guide and improve learning and provide opportunities to reflect, monitor, self-assess, and set targets for learning	Not reflecting on or analyzing own progress
Showing proof of learning	Avoiding any accountability for own learning
Reflecting on own learning and literacy	Assuming that the responsibility for learning and literacy lies with the teacher
Developing the disposition to lifelong learning	Setting short-term goals for learning (e.g., “Is it on the test?”)
Using contemporary technologies to learn and to document understanding	Using limited or inappropriate technology for technology’s sake

Through a “deep” understanding of this curriculum (Fullan, Hill & Crévola, 2006) and knowing when to use effective instructional, assessment, and classroom management strategies based on sound research (Marzano, 2007), English language arts teachers can help all students become competent and confident language users.

An Effective English Language Arts Program:

- focuses on grade-specific outcomes
- provides meaningful contexts
- encourages inquiry, questioning, and efficacy
- focuses on language
- teaches critical and powerful learning strategies
- includes a range of texts.

Focuses on Grade-specific Outcomes

An effective English language arts program focuses on grade-specific curricula outcomes. Student learning outcomes describe what students will learn in a particular discipline over a specific time frame (e.g., Grade 8). They specify the skills, knowledge, and attitudes that students are expected to know and be able to demonstrate.

Critical Characteristics of Outcomes and Indicators

Outcomes:

- focus on what students will learn rather than what teachers will teach
- specify the skills, strategies, abilities, understandings, and knowledge students are expected to be able to demonstrate
- are observable, assessable, and attainable
- are grade and subject-specific
- are supported by indicators which provide the breadth and depth of expectations
- are written using action-based verbs
- identify the most important understandings and abilities to be developed in the specific grade level
- guide course, unit, and lesson planning.

Indicators:

- are a representative list of what students need to know and/or be able to do in order to achieve an outcome
- represent the breadth and the depth of the outcome

Note: Additional and/or alternative indicators may be developed but they must be reflective of and consistent with the breadth and depth that is defined by the given indicators.

English Language Arts Goals and Outcomes Overview

Comprehend and Respond (CR). Students will extend their abilities to view, listen to, read, comprehend, and respond to a range of contemporary and traditional grade-level texts from First Nations, Métis, and other cultures in a variety of forms (oral, print, and other texts) for a variety of purposes including for learning, interest, and enjoyment.

CR8.1 View, listen to, read, comprehend, and respond to a variety of texts that address identity (e.g., Becoming Myself), social responsibility (e.g., In Search of Justice), and efficacy (e.g., Building a Better World).

CR8.2 Select and use appropriate strategies to construct meaning before (e.g., previewing and anticipating message), during (e.g., making inferences based on text and prior knowledge), and after (e.g., paraphrasing and summarizing) viewing, listening, and reading.

CR8.3 Use pragmatic (e.g., intended audience and tone), textual (e.g., how author organized text to achieve unity and coherence), syntactic (e.g., variety of sentence structures), semantic/lexical/morphological (e.g., imagery), graphophonetic (e.g., stress, pitch, and juncture of a word), and other cues (e.g., layout and accompanying graphics) to construct and to confirm meaning.

CR8.4 View critically and demonstrate comprehension of a variety of visual and multimedia texts including videos, television broadcasts, informational presentations, dramatic presentations, websites, and news programs to locate and interpret key messages and details, to develop conclusions, opinions, and understanding, and to evaluate the effectiveness of the text.

CR8.5 Listen critically to understand, gather information, follow directions, form an opinion, and analyze oral presentations for diverse opinions, presenter's point of view, values, and biases, stereotypes, or prejudices.

CR8.6 Read and demonstrate comprehension and interpretation of grade-appropriate texts including traditional and contemporary prose fiction, poetry, and plays from First Nations, Métis, and other cultures to evaluate the purpose, message, point of view, craft, values, and biases, stereotypes, or prejudices.

CR8.7 Read independently and demonstrate comprehension of a variety of information texts including understanding the main ideas and supporting evidence, explaining connections between new ideas and information and previous thoughts, and recognizing any biases or false reasoning.

CR8.8 Read grade 8 appropriate texts to increase fluency (140-180 wcpm orally; 180-230 silently) and expression.

Compose and Create (CC). Students will extend their abilities to speak, write, and use other forms of representation to explore and present thoughts, feelings, and experiences in a variety of forms for a variety of purposes and audiences.

CC8.1 Create various visual, oral, written, and multimedia (including digital) texts that explore identity (e.g., Telling One's Life Story), social responsibility (e.g., Examining the Influence of Popular Culture), and efficacy (e.g., Creating Turning Points).

CC8.2 Create and present a group inquiry project related to a topic, theme, or issue studied in English language arts.

CC8.3 Select and use the appropriate strategies to communicate meaning before (e.g., plan, organize, and sequence ideas to fit purpose, point of view, and format), during (e.g., use and maintain appropriate point of view for audience and purpose), and after (e.g., revise final drafts and presentations to ensure that the format and patterns within that format contribute to the effectiveness of the composition) speaking, writing, and other representing activities.

CC8.4 Use pragmatic (e.g., use appropriate language register), textual (e.g., use artistic devices such as figurative language), syntactical (e.g., combine sentences to form compound and complex sentences for variety, interest, and effect), semantic/lexical/morphological (e.g., use words to capture a particular aspect of meaning), graphophonic (e.g., correctly pronounce words with proper emphasis), and other cues (e.g., use appropriate sound effects, visuals, and multimedia to enhance presentations) to construct and to communicate meaning.

CC8.5 Create and present a variety of visual and multimedia presentations including an illustrated report, a role play that ends with a tableau, a dramatization, presentation software, a newscast with adequate detail, clarity, and organization to explain (e.g., an important concept), to persuade (e.g., an opinion on an issue, a mini-debate), and to entertain (e.g., a humorous incident).

CC8.6 Use oral language to interact purposefully, confidently, and respectfully in a variety of situations including one-to-one, small group, and large group discussions (expressing feelings and viewpoints and contributing to group harmony).

CC8.7 Use oral language to effectively express information and ideas of complexity in formal and informal situations (e.g., to debate a point, to participate in a meeting, to give a dramatic reading of a poem or play excerpt).

CC8.8 Write to describe a landscape scene; to narrate a personal story or anecdote and an historical narrative; to explain and inform in a presentation of findings, a biography, a documented research report, and a résumé and covering letter; and to persuade in a mini-debate and a review.

CC8.9 Experiment with a variety of text forms (e.g., Reader's Theatre, role play, humorous instructions, an electronic presentation, a dramatization, a mini-debate) and techniques (e.g., imagery, music, graphics, and statistics in a multimedia presentation).

Assess and Reflect on Language Abilities (AR). Students will extend their abilities to assess and reflect on their own language skills, discuss the skills of effective viewers, representers, listeners, speakers, readers, and writers, and set goals for future improvement.

AR8.1 Use information gathered in self-assessment and teacher's assessment to develop and work on goals for improving viewing, listening, reading, representing, speaking, and writing.

AR8.2 Appraise own and others' work for clarity, correctness, and variety.

Each outcome is supported by indicators which provide the breadth and depth of the expectations for the outcomes. The outcomes and their indicators are listed on pages 33-48. Teachers are encouraged to build upon outcomes in the previous grades and provide scaffolding to support student achievement of the Grade 8 outcomes.

Provides Meaningful Contexts

An effective ELA program provides meaningful contexts for students to learn about language. The English language arts program is designed for students to extend their language skills and strategies and become competent and confident users of all six language arts strands through many opportunities to view and represent, listen and speak, and read and write in meaningful contexts.

If students are to become lifelong learners, develop a sense of self and connection to others, and become engaged citizens and achieve the Cross-curricular Competencies and the outcomes for English language arts, students require meaningful, authentic contexts for learning. Students need many opportunities to explore questions and concerns about themselves and about the world.

The following contexts provide a focus to language learning and give students an opportunity to explore big ideas (i.e., overarching understandings) that have enduring values beyond the classroom:

- A personal and philosophical focus or context gives students opportunities to explore their identity and their self-concept. The development of the learning spirit inside each student comes from the heart and mind connection that is revealed through each students' reflection on personal feelings, self-image, influential life forces, ideas, belief systems, values, and ways of knowing. Who am I, what is my place, and where am I going? What does the future hold for me?
- A social, cultural, and historical focus or context gives students opportunities to explore relationships with others, community, culture, customs, other ways of knowing, national and international events and issues, and the history of humanity. What are my rights and responsibilities in communities, cultures, and economies? How and who am I in relation to communities, cultures, and economies? How am I defined by these relationships?
- An imaginative and literary focus or context gives students opportunities to use their intuition and imagination to explore alternative worlds and possibilities; different types of classical and contemporary genres including fantasy, science fiction, and humour; and particular authors. How do I use my imagination and intuition and that of others to understand and relate to people, the community, the world, and society in a positive way? How do I foster imaginative ideas of self and others? How do I use intuitive hunches to support creative problem solving or inquiry approaches?

- A communicative focus or context gives students opportunities to explore different methods, forms, and issues related to language, communication, and the mass media. How do I make sense of and communicate with the world? How do I support communication with differing audiences? How do I know if communication is effective?
- An environmental and technological focus or context gives students opportunities to explore the natural and constructed world including the land, the sky, animals, the sea, space, technologies, and environmental and technological issues. How do I describe, analyze, and shape the world around me? How does that natural and technological world affect and shape me?

Each English language arts unit of study can be related to and developed under one or more of these broader contexts. Each context can be explored at each grade. Each context provides opportunities for integration with topics of study in other subject areas.

Teachers in Grade 8 should plan a minimum of five units for the year, basing at least one unit on each of the five contexts. The chart on page 15 gives an overview of possible unit themes and topics for each context and each grade level.

In addition to considering the five contexts, Middle Level English language arts teachers need to think about the types of units to plan. Language arts units, designed around the themes and topics within each context, can ensure that the objectives for the language strands and conventions are learned in meaningful ways. Minimal guidelines are provided for each type of unit.

Type of Unit	Number of Units per Year
Multi-genre Thematic	3 (minimum)
Multi-genre Inquiry and/or Interdisciplinary	1 (minimum)
Author or Genre Study	1 (maximum)

A multi-genre thematic unit (e.g., Adventure and Adventurers unit in Grade 8) is built around a theme or topic from one of the contexts and includes a range of prose fiction and non-fiction, poetry, plays, and other texts. This is the most common

How we envision literacy makes a difference. If we see it as meaning making and not meaning making plus inquiry, we fail to envision all that literacy might be. If we see literacy as language and not language plus other sign systems, we also fail to envision all that literacy might be. (Harste, 2000, p. 1)

Through the inquiry or research process, students satisfy their natural curiosity and develop skills and strategies for lifelong learning.
(Western Canadian Protocol for Collaboration in Basic Education, 1998, p. 33) type of English language arts unit because it allows teachers to vary activities within a broad theme or topic to suit the various ability levels of students while supporting their achievement of outcomes for their respective grade. A minimum of three multi-genre thematic units is recommended.

A multi-genre inquiry and/or interdisciplinary unit (e.g., Voices through the Ages unit in Grade 8) is usually built around a theme or topic that is related to an important question(s) for inquiry and research. The emphasis in an inquiry unit is on “finding out” the answers to a question or questions that the students have about the theme or topic and then using the inquiry process to guide their activities in the unit. When the unit is interdisciplinary, it considers and addresses outcomes from English language arts and other area(s) of study. A minimum of one inquiry/interdisciplinary unit per year is recommended. Any multigenre thematic or author/genre study unit can become an inquiry unit.

An author or genre study unit focuses on the works of a specific author or illustrator or on a specific genre (e.g., the novel or narrative texts). Because of the limited texts used in an author or genre study, a maximum of one per year is recommended.

Planning Units of Study in an Effective English Language Arts Program

Units of Study	Essential Aspects
Units provide meaningful contexts and foci for students to explore the topics and texts that are important to young people everywhere. Units in English language arts allow students not only to learn how language works in meaningful situations but also to develop the disposition for learning for life, a sense of self and connection to others, and, as engaged citizens, a capacity to make a difference in the larger community.	Questions for deeper understanding that address the ideas and issues students need to think about throughout the unit (e.g., What is injustice? How are people treated fairly and unfairly? What are some of the injustices that need to be addressed in our community?).
	Strategies to explore and express their thoughts, ideas, feelings, and experiences as well as to inquire and to learn to use the English language and its conventions. Oral, written, and other texts explore the issues and provide opportunities to apply listening, speaking, reading, writing, viewing, and representing knowledge and skills.
	Individual as well as co-operative projects invite inquiry and bring closure and personal agency to their explorations (e.g., developing a campaign to make people aware of injustice).

Contexts and Suggested Themes and Topics for Middle Level English Language Arts Units

Contexts (one unit from each of the following)	Grade 6	Grade 7	Grade 8	Grade 9
Personal and Philosophical Students are looking inward and focusing on self-image and self-esteem. They reflect on self and life, and on their beliefs and values and those of their society.	Growing Up or Into the Spotlight (Self and Relationships) or Your Choices	Participating and Giving Our Personal Best (Model Unit) or Finding the Courage or Exploring Thoughts, Feelings, and Ideas	Becoming Myself or In My Mirror or Telling One's Life Story	Exploring Loyalty, Love, and Relationships (Model Unit) (Semester II) or All that I Am – The Search for Self (Semester I)
Social, Cultural, and Historical Students look outward and examine their relationships with others, their community, and that of the world. They also consider the historical context.	Peace and Conflict (Model Unit) or Going the Distance or Looking for Answers or Canada's Links to the World	Voices Through the Ages – Reconstructing the Past or Building a Better World or Young People in History or Heroes Gallery	Adventure and Adventurers (Model Unit) or Is it Fair? – In Search of Justice or Building a Better World or Heroic Ways	Conflicts, Challenges, Issues, and Choices – Doing the Right Thing (Model Unit) (Semester I) or Taking Risks; Setting Limits or Equal Opportunity
Imaginative and Literary Students consider imaginary worlds and possibilities (e.g., What if...?) as well as a range of genres and authors.	Tales – Heroes, Deeds, and Wonders or Suspense or Marvels Then and Now or Fantastic Fiction	Mysteries Uncanny Incidents, and Unusual Happenings (Model Unit) or Imagined Worlds or Actions and Reactions	Timeless Narratives of the First Nations and Greek Peoples (Model Unit) or Other Skies or Mystery Maze	Indigenous and Norse Narratives (Model Unit) (Semester 1) or Looking Beyond - Imagining New Worlds and the Future or Laugh Lines or Endless Possibilities
Communicative Students consider the role of communication in their lives and the ideas and technologies that help people become effective communicators.	Messages or Scripts to Act Out or Off the Page or Biographies or Science Fiction	Lighten Up! – On the Funny Side or Thinking for Oneself or It's Showtime!	Burning Questions or Fast Forward or Popular Culture or Beneath the Ink or Buy It, You'll Like It	Our Shared Linguistic and Cultural Roots (Model Unit) (Semester II) or Listen to the Music or Side by Side or Image and Information
Environmental and Technological Students explore the elements of the natural and constructed world and the role of technology and related developments in their society.	Taking Flight (Model Unit) or Space, Stars, and Quasars or Systems for Living or Biodiversity or Electricity	Doing Our Part for Planet Earth or Think Outside the Box or Taking Action	An Eye on Our Natural and Technological Environment or Survival or Creating Turning Points	Surviving and Conquering (Model Unit) (Semester II) or Building a Better Planet or In Touch or Final Frontier

Inquiry is a philosophical stance rather than a set of strategies, activities, or a particular teaching method. As such, inquiry promotes intentional and thoughtful learning for teachers and children.

(Mills & Donnelly, 2001, p. xviii)

Encourages Inquiry, Questioning, and Efficacy

An effective English language arts program provides opportunities for inquiry, questioning, and efficacy.

Inquiry learning provides students with opportunities to build knowledge, abilities, and inquiring habits of mind that lead to deeper understanding of their world and human experience. The inquiry process focuses on the development of compelling questions, formulated by teachers and students, to motivate and guide inquiries into topics, problems, and issues related to curriculum content and outcomes.

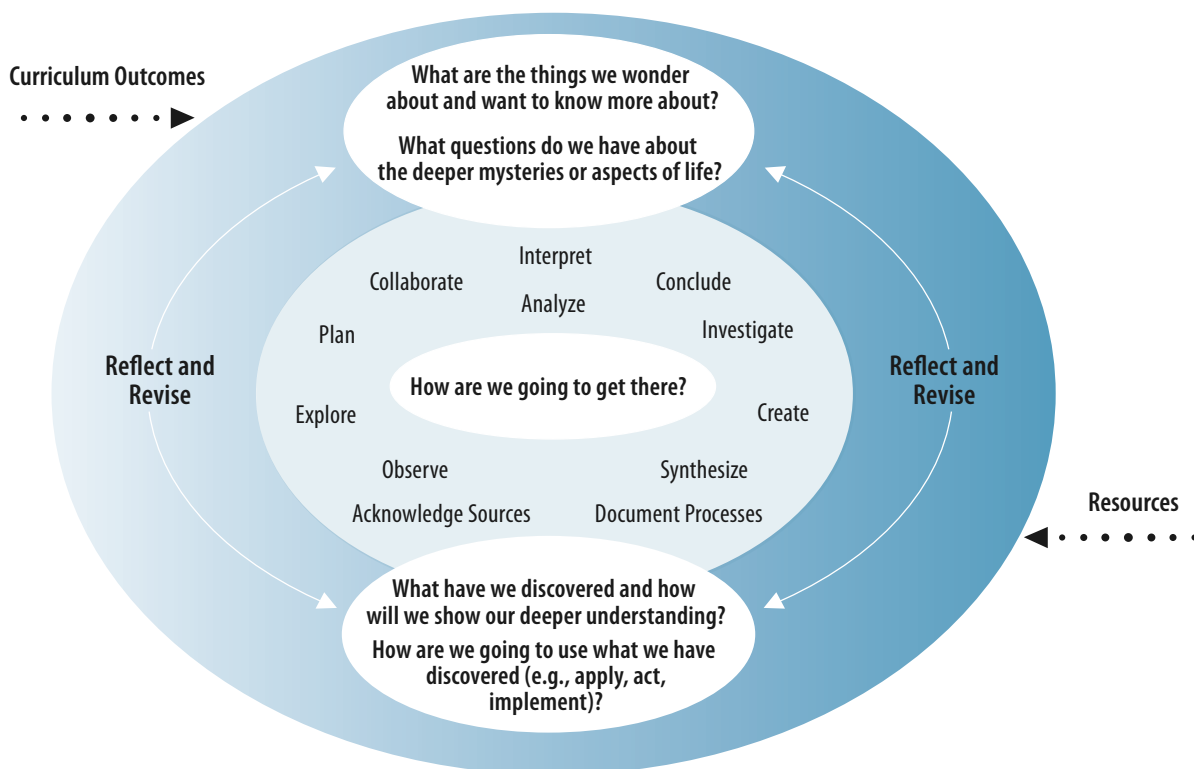

Inquiry is more than a simple instructional strategy. It is a philosophical approach to teaching and learning, grounded in constructivist research and methods, which engages students in investigations that lead to disciplinary and transdisciplinary understanding. Inquiry builds on students' inherent sense of curiosity and wonder, drawing on their diverse backgrounds, interests, and experiences. The process provides opportunities for students to become active participants in a collaborative search for meaning and understanding. Students who are engaged in inquiry:

- construct deep knowledge and deep understanding rather than passively receiving information
- are directly involved and engaged in the discovery of new knowledge
- encounter alternative perspectives and differing ideas that transform prior knowledge and experience into deep understandings
- transfer new knowledge and skills to new circumstances
- take ownership and responsibility for their ongoing learning and mastery of curriculum content and skills.

(Adapted from Kuhlthau & Todd, 2007)

Inquiry learning is not a step-by-step process, but rather a cyclical process, with various phases of the process being revisited and rethought as a result of students' discoveries, insights, and co-construction of new knowledge. The following graphic represents various phases of this cyclical inquiry process.

Constructing Understanding Through Inquiry

Inquiry prompts and motivates students to investigate topics within meaningful contexts. The inquiry process is not linear or lock-step, but is flexible and recursive. Experienced inquirers will move back and forth among various phases as new questions arise and as become more comfortable with the process.

Well-formulated inquiry questions are broad in scope and rich in possibilities. Such questions encourage students to explore, observe, gather information, plan, analyze, interpret, synthesize, problem solve, apply critical and creative thinking, take risks, create, conclude, document, reflect on learning, and develop new questions for further inquiry.

Teachers and students can begin their inquiry at one or more curriculum entry points; however, the process may evolve into transdisciplinary integrated learning opportunities, as reflective of the holistic nature of our lives and interdependent global environment.

Effective Questions for Deeper Understanding

- Cause genuine and relevant inquiry into the key ideas and core content
- Provide for thoughtful, lively discussion, sustained inquiry, and new understanding as well as more questions
- Require students to consider alternatives, weigh evidence, support their ideas, and justify their answers
- Stimulate vital, ongoing rethinking of ideas, assumptions, or prior lessons
- Spark meaningful connections with prior learning, personal experiences, and ways of knowing
- Naturally recur, creating opportunities for transfer to other situations and subjects.

(Adapted from Wiggins & McTighe, 2005, p. 110)

An important part of any inquiry process is student reflection on their learning and the documentation needed to assess the learning and make it visible to students. Student documentation of the inquiry process in English language arts may take the form of reflective journals, essays, notes, drafts, three-dimensional models, works of art, photographs, and video footage.

Questions for deeper understanding are used to initiate and guide the inquiry and give students direction for developing deep understandings about a topic or issue under study. It is essential to develop questions that are evoked by student interests and have potential for rich and deep learning.

The process of constructing compelling questions can help students to grasp the important disciplinary or transdisciplinary ideas that are situated at the core of a particular curricular focus or context. These broad questions will lead to more specific questions that can provide a framework, purpose, and direction for the learning activities in a lesson, or series of lessons, and help students connect what they are learning to their experiences and life beyond school.

Effective questions in English language arts are the key to initiating and guiding students' investigations and critical thinking, problem solving, and reflection on their own learning. Questions such as the following are examples of questions that will move students' inquiry towards deeper understanding:

- How have people been discriminated against because of their colour, gender, sexual orientation, religion, or race? How have discrimination and racism been factors in Saskatchewan's history?
- How fair is it that some people receive less pay than others for equal work or do not share in the wealth of the world? How might we empower people to use the world's wealth appropriately?
- How have innocent people suffered so others can gain?
- What injustices would you like addressed in your society? How could changes best be made?
- What is the difference between fair and equal?
- What are our responsibilities to others?

Effective questioning is essential for teaching and student learning and should be an integral part of planning in English language arts. Questioning should also be used to encourage students to reflect on the inquiry process and the documentation and assessment of their own learning.

Efficacy encourages students to extend their learning beyond the classroom into the local, national, and international community. It invites students to consider how individuals or groups can shape the future in a positive way or address an issue, question, challenge, or problem that is important. Each unit at each grade level in English language arts offers opportunities to challenge students to consider what particular local, national, or global issues, questions, challenges, or problems are important and to consider what students might do to make their community or the world a better place.

Efficacy challenges students to address the important or compelling questions for deeper understanding posed in a unit. In any English language arts unit, teachers and students can plan and create a project for efficacy.

Efficacy Can Help Students

- Become complex thinkers by encouraging them to synthesize their learning and apply it to their community, country, and/or international world.
- Become more aware of the interconnectedness of all things and the reciprocal relationships between themselves and their local and international community.
- Become more independent by using the language skills and strategies that students are learning in ELA beyond the classroom.
- Become more motivated by choosing individual or group projects related to each unit.
- Become contributors to their community and the world beyond that community.
- Become more collaborative and respectful as they work with others to address the questions, issues, and problems considered in the unit.
- Become agents of change.
- Become socially responsible.

Sample Year Plan with Questions for Grade 8 English Language Arts

Unit (and Unit Type)	Context	Unit Overview and Questions for Deeper Understanding
Adventure and Adventurers  (multi-genre thematic)  [Model Unit]	Social, Cultural, and Historical	Life offers us opportunities for adventure and suspense. We can climb mountains, sail around the world, or journey to faraway places. We can become explorers and adventurers. We can enjoy the challenge and overcome our fears and, with determination, try something new. Sometimes we succeed. Other times, we may fail but learn an unexpected lesson. The lessons remind us that all of life's adventures must be kept in perspective. Possible Questions for Deeper Understanding: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Are you an adventurer? In what ways?</li> <li>• What makes an adventure? What are the defining moments in an adventure?</li> <li>• What are the qualities of real-life adventurers?</li> <li>• What can we learn from our successes and our failures?</li> </ul>
Timeless Narratives of the First Nations and Greek Peoples  (author/genre study)  [Model Unit]	Imaginative and Literary	Long before people invented writing, they were reciting poetry, telling stories, and singing songs about their beliefs, dreams, and experiences. Some of the traditional poems, stories, and songs explained events in the natural world and involved the actions of supernatural forces such as gods. Others were stories based on individuals who actually lived and whose feats, foibles, and follies became legends. Possible Questions for Deeper Understanding: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• What makes a "great" story?</li> <li>• How can stories from other places and times teach us about ourselves? Our environment?</li> <li>• What lessons can we learn about ourselves and others through these stories?</li> <li>• What lessons can we learn about human nature?</li> <li>• What lessons can we learn about the meaning of life?</li> </ul>
Becoming Myself  (multi-genre thematic)	Personal and Philosophical	Becoming an adolescent gives you the opportunity to look at yourself and others and to consider who you are and who you want to be. Some of you are private people who need time alone. Others are outgoing and love to socialize. You all have strengths, abilities, and talents. Some of you might have physical skills and talents to communicate through activities such as dance, sports, and charades. Some of you might have social abilities and talents to co-operate, negotiate, empathize, or interact effectively with others. Still others of you might have logical abilities, musical abilities, verbal abilities, or visual abilities. Possible Questions for Deeper Understanding: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• What can we celebrate about ourselves?</li> <li>• How can we discover our unique qualities and talents?</li> <li>• How can we use and share our unique qualities and talents?</li> <li>• How did we get to be who we are?</li> </ul>

An Eye on Our Natural and Technological Environment  (multi-genre thematic)	Environmental and Technological	We live in a complex world that requires us to live and work with nature, animals, other human beings, and technology in a respectful way. Wherever we live, we use natural and synthetic resources. Sometimes we take all of these for granted. Whether it is a simple technology such as a pen or a complex technology such as the Internet, it has an impact on our lives, environment, and society. Considering the role of technology in our past, present, and, especially, our future is important. Possible Questions for Deeper Understanding: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• What technology do we take for granted?</li> <li>• What are some of the most recent developments in technology? What are some unintended consequences of these developments?</li> <li>• What are some of the significant technical inventions of the past?</li> <li>• What do you anticipate will be the important technological developments in your lifetime?</li> <li>• What are some potential benefits and risks related to these developments?</li> <li>• How can technology be used for good and for bad?</li> </ul>
Burning Questions  (multi-genre inquiry)	Communicative	Have you ever been curious about how things work? Have you ever been curious about other people's lives? Have you ever wondered what questions other people asked? Throughout life, we wonder and we often have "burning questions" to which we would like an answer. Asking questions that we wonder about and setting out to find the answers for ourselves is an important part of learning and growing. Often searching for answers not only affects us, but also the lives of many other people, and may even change the way people see the world. Possible Questions for Deeper Understanding: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Why do people ask questions? Why do you ask questions?</li> <li>• What is a good question?</li> <li>• What is the best question you have ever asked?</li> <li>• What is the hardest question you have ever tried to answer?</li> <li>• What are some purposes of questions?</li> <li>• What are some "burning questions" that inventors and discoverers have followed?</li> <li>• To what "burning question" do you want to find the answer? How will you do it?</li> </ul>

Is It Fair? – In Search of Justice  (multi-genre thematic)  [Optional Unit]	Social, Cultural, and Historical	Throughout life, we are haunted and challenged by the issue of fairness. Many people have struggled to address the injustices of our world. Do you believe that all people should have the right to be treated well and to have the same chances in life? Do you believe that life should be fair? What are some of the injustices of the past? Of the present? How can an individual, group, or community address the injustices of our world? Possible Questions for Deeper Understanding: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• How have people been discriminated against because of their colour, gender, religion, or race?</li> <li>• How fair is it that some people receive less pay than others for equal work or do not share in the wealth of the world?</li> <li>• How have innocent people suffered so others can gain?</li> <li>• What injustices would you like addressed in your society? How could changes best be made?</li> <li>• What are our responsibilities to others in supporting justice?</li> </ul>

Focuses on Language

Language and language study are at the centre of the Middle Level English language arts program. The study of the English language arts (listening, speaking, reading, writing, viewing, and representing) and of the elements and conventions associated with each language cueing system (i.e., pragmatic, textual, syntactical, semantic/lexical/morphological, graphophonic, and other) enables students to understand and appreciate language and to use it in a variety of situations for communication, for learning, and for personal satisfaction.

An effective English language arts program that develops students' facility with language provides students with opportunities to:

- learn to use language in a variety of meaningful ways, considering and determining their audience, purpose, and situation
- learn about language as a necessary tool for thinking and communicating effectively, considering the resources and conventions of language
- learn through language by applying their knowledge of language in their listening, speaking, reading, writing, viewing, and representing experiences.

Language study is an integral part of an English language arts program. Students in each grade are expected to understand the concepts related to the language cues and conventions. As students listen, speak, read, write, view, and represent, they are expected to apply the concepts as they construct and communicate meaning in their English language arts program and in their daily communication.

Language Cue or Convention	When listening, reading, and viewing, student recognizes:	When speaking, writing, and representing, student considers:
Pragmatic  Pragmatics is the study of how people choose what and how to communicate from the range of possibilities available in the language and how the receiver will be affected by these choices.	Who created this text? For whom? What is the purpose of this text? When was it created? Why was it created? Whose point of view is presented? What is the tone of this text? What is the creator's view of the world? What are the creator's beliefs or biases? Whose point of view is not presented?	About what am I speaking, writing, or representing? Who is my audience (to what person or group of people am I trying to communicate)? What is my purpose (what do I want to achieve)? What register and tone would be appropriate (what level of language should I use and what "voice" should I assume)?
Textual  Ideas and information are organized in oral, written, and other (e.g., electronic) formats. Textual cues and conventions include the form or structure and elements of a text.	What form/genre was used? How are the ideas organized (e.g., chronological)? What signal words are used? If non-fiction, what are the important ideas or events? If fiction, where and when does this take place? Who are the main characters? What is the problem? How is it resolved? What are the special features of this text?	What form should this take? Is this the right form to communicate my message? Is my text effectively and logically organized? Does each section/paragraph begin and end effectively? Does my text use a consistent point of view? Does my text use effective transitions and connections?
Syntactical  Syntax is the predictable structure of a sentence and the ways words are combined to form phrases, clauses, and sentences. Syntax includes classes of words (e.g., verbs) and their functions (e.g., subject).	What is the key idea in this sentence (i.e., who or what/does or is/what/for or to whom)? What is the verb and how do the other words relate to it? How does the word order convey a particular meaning or emphasis? To what does each pronoun refer? How does the punctuation clarify the meaning of this sentence?	Are all sentences clear, complete, and with varied beginnings? Have I used a variety of sentence types (e.g., exclamations) and sentence structures (e.g., S-V, SVO, and S-LV-C)? Have I created sentences of varying length? Have I used co-ordination, subordination, and apposition to enhance my communication? Are there any sentence fragments or run-ons? Does each verb agree with its subject?
Semantic/Lexical/Morphological  The lexicon of a language includes all the words or vocabulary of that language that are used or understood by a particular person or group. Words can also be studied for their meaningful parts or morphemes.	What does this word mean? Have I seen this word before? Can I use context clues to figure out what it probably means? Can I use a familiar part (e.g., prefix, suffix, base word) to figure out what it means? Can I look this word up or ask someone what it means? Is this a creative or figurative use of this word?	Are my word choices vivid? Have frequently confused words been used correctly? Have I used qualifiers effectively and appropriately? Have I noted the denotative and connotative meaning of words and used them effectively? Are my pronoun references correct? Have I avoided double negatives?

Language Cue or Convention	When listening, reading, and viewing, student recognizes:	When speaking, writing, and representing, student considers:
Phonemic/Graphophonic  Graphophonics is the study of the relationship between the symbols and sounds of a language and includes letter or sound relationships and patterns	How is this word pronounced?	How is this word spelled?
Other Cues and Conventions  Other cues and conventions are also found in communication acts. These include such elements as graphics, layout, colour, sound, movement, font choices, and handwriting.	What additional information is conveyed through these other elements? What impact or effect do these elements have?	How could I clarify or enhance my communication using other elements such as graphics, colour, sound, movement, or props? How can I make this more interesting? More effective? Are my accompanying visuals and other media appropriate? Did I use legible handwriting or appropriate fonts?

Teaches Critical and Powerful Learning Strategies

An effective ELA program teaches students how to use critical and powerful learning strategies. In order to achieve the English language arts outcomes, students need to learn and use a range of language skills and strategies. Effective language arts teachers employ a range of instructional approaches to help students move from teacher-supported and guided lessons to independent learning that requires varied instructional methods and strategies to help students learn these language skills and strategies. Teachers model and discuss key procedural and metacognitive strategies for language learning and thinking. Students need to learn how to select and to use strategies before, during, and after listening, speaking, reading, writing, viewing, and representing.

If students are to be successful in English language arts, they need to learn and use thinking and learning skills and strategies on their own. In order to help students gain control over a repertoire of key skills and strategies, the skills and strategies need to be explicitly taught and practised using a model such as the following:

- Introduce and explain the purpose of the skill or strategy.
- Demonstrate and model its use.
- Provide guided practice for students to apply the skill or strategy with feedback.
- Allow students to apply the skill or strategy independently and in teams.
- Reflect regularly on the appropriate uses of the skills or strategies and their effectiveness.
- Assess the students' ability to transfer the repertoire of skills or strategies with less and less teacher prompting over time (Wiggins & McTighe, 2007, pp. 97-98).

Important Cognitive Strategies for Comprehending and Responding (CR) Goal

Learning Phase: Strategies Learners can use (Before) as They Prepare to Comprehend and Respond to a Visual, Multimedia, Oral, or Print Text
Strategy	Prompts
Tap, Activate, and Build Prior Knowledge	I already know that .... This reminds me of .... This relates to ....
Ask Questions	I want to know .... I wonder if .... I want to answer these questions ....
Preview Text	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Title</li> <li>• Illustrations/Diagrams</li> <li>• Textual Cues and Features</li> <li>• Summaries</li> <li>• Table of Contents</li> <li>• Headings and Subheadings</li> <li>• Graphic Organizers</li> </ul>
Anticipate Message and Author's/Presenter's Intent	I think that I will learn .... I think that the author/presenter will say .... The title of this text makes me think of .... This text will likely present .... The information about the speaker/writer/presenter suggests ....
Predict what Text will be About	Because of the title, I think .... Because of the picture(s), I think .... Because of the text and features, I think .... I wonder if ....
Set Purpose	I am listening, reading, viewing this to .... I want to know if .... I think that I will learn .... I want to answer these questions ....

Learning Phase: Strategies Learners can use (During) as They Comprehend and Respond to a Visual, Multimedia, Oral, or Print Text

Connect and Construct Meaning	This reminds me of .... I experienced this once when .... I can relate to this because ....
Note Key Ideas and What Supports Them	The important ideas in what I hear, read, or view are .... Here's why (supporting ideas) .... I think the author/presenter is really trying to make us think ....
Construct Mental Images	I can picture .... In my mind I see, hear, smell, taste, feel .... If this were a movie ....
Make, Confirm, and Adjust Predictions	I think .... I suppose .... If ..., then ....
Make, Confirm, Adjust Inferences, and Draw Conclusions	Based on the clues in this text, I think the author/character felt/thought .... I see why .... My thinking changed when I heard, saw, read ....
Ask Questions and Self-monitor Comprehension	Does this make sense? I need to listen again, re-read, or re-view this part because .... I know that I am on the right track because ....
Use Cueing Systems to Construct Meaning:
Pragmatic Cues (audience, purpose, situation)	The purpose of this text is to .... This text represents ... point of view The author's/presenter's view of the world is ....
Textual Cues (genre and form)	The author/presenter chose to use ... genre/form The author/presenter organized the ideas in a list, sequence, compare/contrast, cause/effect, problem/solution, concept/definition, goal/action/outcome format .... The author/presenter probably chose this genre/form because ....
Syntactical (sentence) Cues	The key idea of this sentence is .... The author/presenter used this word order to convey this particular meaning or emphasis of .... This pronoun refers to ....
Semantic/Lexical (word) Cues	An important or key word in this passage is .... Because of its context clues, ... probably means .... Because of its prefix, suffix, root, ... probably means ....
Graphophonic (sound-symbol) Cues	... is pronounced .... ... is spelled ....
Other Cues	The author/presenter used these features (e.g., graphs, charts) to help us understand this text ....
Adjust Rate and/or Strategy	I need to skim this part to learn .... I need to scan this part to find .... I need to read this part carefully to learn ....

The “during” phase of listening, reading, and viewing cannot be treated as simply “assign and evaluate”. Students should not be told simply to listen, read, or view and asked questions in the after phases to determine if they have comprehended a text. Most students need the strategies in the “during” phase to be explicitly modelled and taught.

Learning Phase: Strategies Learners can use (After) After They Comprehend and Respond to a Visual, Multimedia, Oral, or Print Text
Recall, Paraphrase, Summarize, and Synthesize	So the point is .... This text was about .... The main idea is .... I learned .... A conclusion that I am drawing is .... The overall message was .... I need to listen again, re-read, re-view the part where ....
Reflect and Interpret (Identify new knowledge or insight)	A question that I have is .... This is important and relevant because .... I wonder if .... What I learned was .... I want to know more about ....
Evaluate	I like/do not like ... because .... This could be more effective if .... I would add or delete .... The most important message is .... The teaching in this is .... This is accurate/realistic/artistic because .... This was successful because ....
Analyze Craft and Technique	A “golden” line for me is .... This word/phrase/sentence/part stands out for me because .... I like how the presenter/author uses ... to show .... The thing that I could relate to the most was ....
Respond Personally (giving support from text)	My first reaction was .... I thought .... I felt .... I enjoyed .... This reminds me of .... A similar story to this is ....
Listen, Read, View Again and Speak, Write, and Represent to Deepen Understanding and Pleasure	I could deepen my understanding and pleasure by listening again, re-reading, reviewing ... I could share my thoughts and insights with others by: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Speaking (e.g., discussing, giving a dramatic reading, role playing)</li> <li>• Writing (e.g., a script, a narrative, a poem)</li> <li>• Representing (e.g., creating a tableau, a graphic organizer, a storyboard).</li> </ul>

Important Cognitive Strategies for Composing and Creating (CC) Goal

Learning Phase: Strategies Learners can use (Before) as They Prepare to Compose and Create a Visual, Multimedia, Oral, or Print Text
Strategy	Prompts
Consider Prompts (e.g., RAFTS variables) or Find a Topic and Activate Prior Knowledge	About what am I speaking, writing, or representing? What do I know about this topic? What message do I want to communicate? What questions need to be answered? What is my role or point of view? What do proficient speakers, writers, or representers do to create quality texts?
Consider Purpose and Audience	For whom am I speaking, writing, or representing? What do I know about my audience (e.g., age, interests, needs, gender, background)? Why am I speaking, writing, or representing? What is my purpose (e.g., convince, persuade, defend)? What am I trying to do in this communication? Should I use a formal or informal stance?
Consider and Generate Specific Ideas and Information that Might be Included	What do I know and need to know about the topic? What types of information (e.g., data, anecdotes, visuals) will appeal to my selective audience and serve my purpose? What are the specific ideas that I need to include? What points need to be made? Where will I find missing or additional information?
Consider and Choose/Adapt a Possible Form	What form will appeal to my selected audience and best serve my purpose? What form will engage my audience? What shape will that form take? How could the ideas and information be organized?
Collect and Focus Ideas and Information	What do I need to find out? Where can I find reference materials? With whom do I talk? Is my topic sufficiently focused? What is the key message? Where is the best information found for this message?
Plan and Organize Ideas for Drafting (mapping and authoring)	What plan do I have? How will I begin? How will I make this interesting? How will I end? How will I arrange my ideas to make sense?
Consider Qualities of Effective Communication and the Language to Use	What are the key ideas for this message? What is the best way to organize this message? What is the best and most appropriate language to use? What register and tone is appropriate? What is the best way to present this message?

Learning Phase: Strategies Learners can use (During) as They Compose and Create a Visual, Multimedia, Oral, or Print Text

Create Draft(s) and Experiment with Possible Product(s)	What ways can I start? What do I need to add, expand, modify, change, condense, delete, or rearrange in my next draft? Is this the best approach for the chosen topic?
Use Language and its Conventions to Construct Message:
Pragmatic Cues (audience, purpose, situation)	For whom am I communicating this and for what purpose? What register and tone is appropriate?
Textual Cues (genre and form)	What form should this take? How should I arrange my ideas and sequence and connect them? Are all new paragraphs clearly identified?
Syntactical (sentence) Cues	Are my sentences clear? Complete? Interesting? Varied? Correct?
Semantic/Lexical (word) Cues	Did I choose the right words? Did I use the words correctly?
Graphophonic (sound-symbol) Cues	Did I spell each word correctly? Did I use punctuation to clarify meaning?
Other Cues	How can I make this more interesting? More effective? More vivid? Are my accompanying visuals or multimedia choices appropriate? Did I use legible handwriting or appropriate fonts, formatting, or props?
Confer with Others	How do my peers and others respond to my drafts? What suggestions for improvement do others have? What do I need to add or change to create a quality text? Do others have suggested ideas and sources of information that I can include?
Reflect, Clarify, Self-monitor, Self-correct, and Use a Variety of "Fix-up" Strategies	Does this mean what I want it to mean? How clear is the meaning? What are my strengths and what areas need improvement in this piece? What should I now add, change, delete, or rearrange?
Experiment with Communication Features and Techniques	How well do the communication variables (e.g., content, organization, purpose, audience, context) work together? How can I use different features to communicate my ideas more clearly and more effectively?

Learning Phase: Strategies Learners can use (After) After They Compose and Create a Visual, Multimedia, Oral, or Print Text

Revise for Content and Meaning (adding, deleting, substituting, and rethinking)	Have I included everything I want to say? Do I need to add any other information? Are there enough details? Do I need to take anything out? Is the writing interesting? Does the writing achieve the purpose? Are there unrelated ideas that distract the listener, reader, or viewer?
Revise for Organization (reordering)	Do I have an introduction? Is my main idea clearly developed and supported? Is my order clear? Are the ideas and details arranged in an effective order? Are the connections between ideas and sentences clear? Do I have a good ending?
Revise for Sentence Structure and Flow	Are my sentences clear and complete? Do my sentences read smoothly? Is the sentence structure varied? Do the subjects and verbs agree?
Revise for Word Choice, Spelling, and Usage	Does my language fit the audience and purpose? Have I used the best words? Have I used any words too many times? Have I left out any words? Are my words spelled correctly?
Proofread for Mechanics and Appearance (Punctuation and Capitalization)	Did I proofread for capitalization and punctuation? Is it audible? Is my polished draft legible? Is the layout clear?
Confer with Peers, Teacher, or Others	What is the part that I like best? Does it say what I wanted it to say? Does it have a clear form? Does it make sense? Is it interesting? Does it give the intended reaction? Is it clear and easy to understand? Is it appropriate for my purpose and audience? How can it be improved? What could I do next?
Polish, Practise, and Decide how the Work will be Shared and/or Published	What does quality speaking, writing, and other forms of representing look and sound like? Is my presentation ready? In what context (situation) will my listeners, readers, or viewers engage with my text? How will this context affect its presentation?
Share Final Product, Reflect and Consider Feedback, and Celebrate Learning	What is the listeners', readers', or viewers' response? What worked well? What would I try next time? What lessons have I learned from this experience? How do I find opportunities to celebrate my achievements?

Additional Strategies for Composing and Creating

Representing:

- Discuss/Brainstorm/Web
- Asking the 5Ws + H
- Representing Task Sheet
- Talking Drawings (Wood, 1994)
- Sketch to Stretch (Harste, Short, & Burke, 1988)
- Read/View/Listen, Talk, Act, Draw, Write (Cox, 1999)

Speaking:

- Talking Circle
- Think, Pair, Share/Square (McTighe & Lyman, 1992)
- Instructional Conversations (Goldenberg, 1993)
- TAPS (Total Group, Alone, Partner, and Small Group) (Gregory & Chapman, 2002)
- Grouptalk (Whipple, 1975; Moffett & Wagner, 1992)

Writing:

- Discuss/Brainstorm/Web
- Think-Pair-Share-Write (Robb, 2006)
- Asking the 5Ws and H (who, what, where, when, why, and how)
- Writing Frames
- RAFTS (Adler & Vendevert, 1989)
- Fast Writes (Robb, 2006)
- Authors' Circle (Graves & Hansen, 1983)
- Passes (Perrin, 1992)
- Guided, Layered Revision (Forney, 1999)
- Writing Workshop (Calkins, 1994)

Refer to the Ministry of Education website for additional information about the strategies that learners can use for comprehending and responding and for composing and creating.

Includes a Range of Texts

In order for students to achieve the outcomes stated in this curriculum, students need to have access to a wide range of high quality learning resources in oral, visual, multimedia, print, and electronic formats. The bibliography that supports this curriculum identifies core learning resources to support the English language arts program and student achievement of the learning outcomes designated for this grade level. Additional resources that have been evaluated for curriculum fit are available on the Ministry of Education website. An effective English language arts program:

- provides learning resources that help students achieve the curriculum outcomes
- balances a variety of formats including print, non-print, human, electronic, and virtual resources
- offers resources that are current, relevant, credible, and representative of many viewpoints including resources that reflect the perspectives, cultures, and ways of knowing of Saskatchewan's First Nations and Métis peoples
- presents the cultural, literary, and artistic heritages of societies, past and present
- responds to students' interests and supports independent reading and inquiry
- fosters opportunities for inquiry learning.

Refer to the ministry website for a listing of various grade-appropriate texts that Grade 8 students might explore.

Outcomes and Indicators

Focus: Communicating Ideas and Experiences with Clarity, Correctness, and Variety

By the end of Grade 8, students will:

Comprehend and Respond (CR). Students will extend their abilities to view, listen to, read, comprehend, and respond to a range of contemporary and traditional grade-level texts from First Nations, Métis, and other cultures in a variety of forms (oral, print, and other texts) for a variety of purposes including for learning, interest, and enjoyment.

Outcomes

CR8.1 View, listen to, read, comprehend, and respond to a variety of texts that address identity (e.g., Becoming Myself), social responsibility (e.g., In Search of Justice), and efficacy (e.g., Building a Better World).

Indicators

- a. View, listen to, read, and respond to a variety of visual, multimedia (including digital), oral, and print texts that address the grade-level themes and issues related to identity, social responsibility, and efficacy including those that reflect diverse personal identities, worldviews, and backgrounds (e.g., appearance, culture, socio-economic status, ability, age, gender, sexual orientation, language, career pathway).
- b. Demonstrate comprehension of a variety of visual, oral, print, and multimedia (including digital) texts by:

understanding the ideas: Clearly, completely, and accurately summarize and explain the ideas and implicit and explicit messages (including setting, main characters, conflicts, events) in texts; cite details that support the main ideas; make logical inferences; interpret obvious themes or author's message logically.

understanding, using, and analyzing the text structures and (language) features of texts to construct meaning: Use key text features (e.g., headings, diagrams, paragraphs); recognize organizational patterns (e.g., text structure) and structural cues within texts (e.g., transition words); recognize rhetorical techniques and craft of texts (e.g., hyperbole, parallelism, colour, repetition); identify how texts were constructed, shaped, and produced.

responding to and interpreting texts: Make, explain, and justify reactions and personal connections to texts; give opinions and make judgements supported by reasons, explanations, and evidence; make judgements and draw conclusions about ideas on the basis of evidence; make logical interpretations of the author's message; make and support inferences about characters' feelings, motivations, and point of view; organize response and interpretation around several clear ideas or premises.

- c. Explain the motivation of the characters in literary texts, providing evidence from each text.
- d. Identify and describe techniques used to create mood in visual, oral, written, and multimedia (including digital) texts.
- e. Explain preferences for various texts, genres, or specific authors.
- f. Identify and explain connections between new ideas and information and previous beliefs, values, and experiences.
- g. Identify stereotyping in what is seen, heard, and read and begin to recognize its negative impact on individuals and society.
- h. Identify techniques used to create particular effects or portray various people and cultures.
- i. Discuss how similar ideas, people, experiences, and traditions are conveyed in a variety of oral, print, and other texts.
- j. Consider how text has contributed to understanding of self and others (e.g., cultural groups).
- k. Describe and give examples to explain personal criteria for assessing and responding to what is viewed, heard, or read.
- l. Evaluate the content, quality, organization, and presentation of a text.
- m. Produce response journals and use interactive websites such as web logs ("blogs" for short) that serve as journals.
- n. Describe the purpose of specific texts and explain how their key features aid understanding.

Outcomes

CR8.2 Select and use appropriate strategies to construct meaning before (e.g., previewing and anticipating message), during (e.g., making inferences based on text and prior knowledge), and after (e.g., paraphrasing and summarizing) viewing, listening, and reading.

Indicators

Describe, apply, and assess the strategies used before, during, and after viewing, listening, and reading including:

a. Before:

- tap, activate, and build prior knowledge (e.g., review what is known and has been learned about subject of text; identify what needs to be learned from text to fill in gaps)
- ask questions (e.g., survey text and ask questions about it; form implicit questions and search for answers in text)
- preview text (e.g., look briefly at each section and page of a text, paying attention to the headings, illustrations, boldface type, and organizational structure; read the first and last paragraphs of a print text)
- anticipate message and author's/presenter's intent (e.g., consider the author's/presenter's possible intention given a brief biographical sketch about his or her background and causes)
- predict what text will be about (e.g., review an outline of the main ideas in a text and predict what information or stance will be used to support these main ideas)
- Set purpose (e.g., discuss and set a purpose with peers).

b. During:

- connect and construct meaning (e.g., make connections to self, other texts, and to the world to help with making predictions, visualizing, and drawing conclusions)
- note key ideas and what supports them (e.g., stop at the end of each page, section, or chapter to answer the who, what, when, where, why, and how questions; note how examples, illustrations, and visual aids support or take away from key message)
- construct mental images (e.g., imagine what a character might be seeing, hearing, smelling, tasting, or feeling in a particular place and time)
- make, confirm, and adjust predictions (e.g., identify and explain the clues in the text that confirm defensible predictions)
- make, confirm, and adjust inferences and draw conclusions (e.g., analyze, infer, and explain unstated ideas in texts)
- ask questions (e.g., ask questions, focusing particularly on evaluative questions to gain meaning from text, and to locate key points)
- use cueing systems to construct meaning and self-monitor comprehension (e.g., use and insert notations such as + for "that's new", ? for "I don't understand", * for "that's important")

- adjust rate and/or strategy (e.g., skim, scan, and read carefully depending on the text complexity and purpose).

c. After:

- recall, paraphrase, summarize, and synthesize (e.g., connect, compare, and contrast ideas in texts; determine implied and literal messages; make notes to assist recall)
- reflect and interpret (e.g., keep an open mind and consider ideas that differ from own)
- evaluate (respond critically) (e.g., identify strategies used to influence audience including exaggeration, one-sided view of a group, jolts)
- evaluate craft and techniques (e.g., draw conclusions about presenter's, speaker's, writer's message, values, point of view, and craft)
- respond personally (giving support from text) (e.g., connect, compare, and contrast ideas in text to own knowledge and experiences)
- listen, read, or view again and speak, write, and represent to deepen understanding and pleasure (e.g., listen, read, or view again to evaluate the effectiveness and overall impact of the text to deliver the message intended).

Outcomes

CR8.3 Use pragmatic (e.g., intended audience and tone), textual (e.g., how author organized text to achieve unity and coherence), syntactic (e.g., variety of sentence structures), semantic/lexical/morphological (e.g., imagery), graphophonic (e.g., stress, pitch, and juncture of a word), and other cues (e.g., layout and accompanying graphics) to construct and to confirm meaning.

Note: Italicized text refers to those indicators that are emphasized at this grade level.

Indicators

- a. Recognize and understand the particular purpose, tone, and register (pragmatic), textual structures and patterns (textual), sentence structure (syntactical), word patterns and meanings (lexical/semantic/morphological), sound-symbol relationships (graphophonic), and other cues and conventions in visual, oral, print, and multimedia (including digital) texts.
- b. Use language cues and conventions to construct, monitor, and confirm meaning including:

Pragmatic: Recognize and explain function and purpose of texts including informing, persuading, narrating, describing; recognize intended audience and tone; recognize use of language and language register (i.e., formal, informal, colloquialism, jargon, slang, clichés); detect use of emotional appeal or persuasive language (e.g., testimonials, emotional appeals, bandwagon effects).

Textual: Recognize and explain how structures and features of texts can work to shape understanding including form/genre, artistic devices (e.g., personification, figurative language including similes and metaphors, exaggeration, symbolism), elements (e.g., point of view, conflict, theme, supporting arguments), and text features (e.g., credits, headings, diagrams, columns, sidebars, pull-quotes); understand a range of standard forms for texts including paragraphs and multi-paragraph compositions; recognize common organization patterns within texts (chronological, enumerative, problem/solution, cause/effect, comparison/contrast); understand how author organized text to achieve unity and coherence.

Syntactical: Recognize and comprehend complete, interesting, and clear sentence structures that contain a verb and its subject; compound and complex sentences used for variety, interest, and effect; appropriate subordination and modification; effective use of qualifiers; effective punctuation and capitalization including periods, commas, semicolons, quotation marks, colons, dashes, and hyphens.

Semantic/Lexical/Morphological: Recognize and comprehend words that are appropriate for audience, purpose, and context and capture a particular aspect of intended meaning; recognize synonyms used for variety; use context, prefixes, suffixes, root words, sounds, and reference tools including dictionaries, thesauri, and handbooks to determine meaning of words; recognize words used figuratively and for imagery.

Graphophonic: Recognize and comprehend word patterns, the stress, pitch, and juncture of a word, affixes, root words, onomatopoeia, and alliteration.

Other Cues: Recognize and comprehend non-verbal cues (including gestures, physical movement, facial expressions, and body language), layout and accompanying graphics, and how sound effects, visuals, and multimedia aids are used to enhance presentations.

Outcomes

CR8.4 View critically and demonstrate comprehension of a variety of visual and multimedia texts including videos, television broadcasts, informational presentations, dramatic presentations, websites, and news programs to locate and interpret key messages and details, to develop conclusions, opinions, and understanding, and to evaluate the effectiveness of the text.

Indicators

- a. Demonstrate the behaviours of an effective and active viewer including formulating questions before viewing; viewing attentively; relating text to self, text to other texts, and text to world; recognizing main ideas and underlying messages and values; recognizing how images and other elements (e.g., data displays) are capturing and holding attention; identifying the impact the text is having on self; reflecting and reviewing in light of purpose.
- b. Demonstrate ability to navigate and process information when viewing websites, films, videos, and presentations.
- c. Identify the different techniques (including data displays) used in different media works (including digital) to impact viewers.
- d. Identify creative uses of language in visual and multimedia texts including those associated with popular culture (e.g., animation, video, computer games).
- e. Compare how various forms of media (e.g., newspaper, radio, TV, and Internet) cover the same topic.
- f. Compare various styles of data displays for clarity and effectiveness.
- g. Evaluate the overall effectiveness and impact of a range of individual visual and multimedia texts (including digital texts).

Outcomes

CR8.5 Listen critically to understand, gather information, follow directions, form an opinion, and analyze oral presentations for diverse opinions, presenter's point of view, values, and biases, stereotypes, or prejudices.

Indicators

- a. Demonstrate the behaviours of an effective and active listener including adapting listening and focus to purpose and situation, keeping an open mind and considering ideas that differ from own, determining the congruency between the speaker's verbal and non-verbal cues, determining whether fact or opinion is being expressed, interacting appropriately with speaker, and seeking clarification when meaning is not clear.
- b. Demonstrate ability to process information when listening to a formal presentation (including a podcast).
- c. Make connections among different texts by comparing features including themes, issues, styles, and appeal.
- d. Paraphrase a speaker's purpose and point of view.
- e. Listen critically to evaluate others' ideas or opinions.

- f. Evaluate the credibility of a speaker and the various ways in which visual images communicate information and affect impressions and opinions.
- g. Demonstrate ability to analyze informational texts differentiating between fact and opinion and recognizing point of view, biases, and stereotypes.

Outcomes

CR8.6 Read and demonstrate comprehension and interpretation of grade-appropriate texts including traditional and contemporary prose fiction, poetry, and plays from First Nations, Métis, and other cultures to evaluate the purpose, message, point of view, craft, values, and biases, stereotypes, or prejudices.

CR8.7 Read independently and demonstrate comprehension of a variety of information texts including understanding the main ideas and supporting evidence, explaining connections between new ideas and information and previous thoughts, and recognizing any biases or false reasoning.

CR8.8 Read Grade 8 appropriate texts to increase fluency (140-180 wcpm orally; 180-230 silently) and expression.

Indicators

- a. Demonstrate the behaviours of an effective and active reader including previewing text, anticipating author's message, reading with purpose in mind, recognizing main ideas and relevant details for purpose, making jot notes to assist recall, considering author's reasoning for creating text, analyzing and evaluating ideas and craft as one reads, and recognizing underlying biases, stereotypes, or prejudices in text.
- b. Demonstrate an understanding of the main ideas, events, or themes of a variety of novels, stories, poetry, and other oral, print, and electronic media.
- c. Interpret and report on information obtained from more than one source to inform others.
- d. Use various forms of note making (e.g., lists, summaries, observations, descriptions) appropriate to purpose and situation.
- e. Demonstrate the ability to comprehend and use everyday texts (e.g., directions, schedules, brochures) and make judgements about purpose and importance.
- f. Utilize note making and outlining as learning tools.
- g. Show understanding that the author's experience, background, and culture influenced the treatment of theme.
- h. Identify with and develop an understanding of the characters the author has created from what they say and do and from what other characters and the narrator say about them.
- i. Select, independently, texts that address learning needs and interests.

Compose and Create (CC). Students will extend their abilities to speak, write, and use other forms of representation to explore and present thoughts, feelings, and experiences in a variety of forms for a variety of purposes and audiences.

Outcomes

CC8.1 Create various visual, oral, written, and multimedia (including digital) texts that explore identity (e.g., Telling One's Life Story), social responsibility (e.g., Examining the Influence of Popular Culture), and efficacy (e.g., Creating Turning Points).

Indicators

a. Create a variety of texts (i.e., oral presentations, written and other compositions) that represent experiences, ideas, and information about identity, social responsibility, and efficacy with clarity, correctness, and variety.

b. Create speeches, writing, and other representations that feature the following qualities:

Message Content or Ideas (Meaning): Focuses on main ideas and information; provides relevant details, examples, and explanations; is accurate, complete, and uses own words; shows some individuality or originality in literary texts; contains ideas and images that create an impact.

Organization and Coherence (Form): Introduces the topic and purpose; provides some context; sticks to the topic; is easy to follow with related ideas grouped together and sequenced logically; uses appropriate connecting words; creates a logical ending; includes appropriate and required text features (e.g., titles, headings, diagrams, illustrations), correctly constructed.

Language Conventions (Style and Language Choices): Uses clear purpose and language; shows a good sense of audience; contains description and variety in diction; contains a variety of sentence lengths and varied sentence beginnings; demonstrates the use of several different conjunctions; formulates complete, simple, compound, and complex sentences correctly (avoiding run-ons and fragments); applies the conventions of oral and written language, including correct spelling, correct punctuation (including use of colon, dash, and hyphen), uses legible cursive handwriting and clear representations which are visually accurate, legible, and neatly presented.

- c. Represent, articulate, and explain personal viewpoints clearly.
- d. Summarize main ideas discussed and conclusions drawn, encourage others to contribute, disagree courteously/sensitively, answer others' questions clearly and politely, and add to others' ideas
- e. Participate in group inquiry related to the themes and issues being studied in English language arts:

Outcomes*Indicators

CC8.2 Create and present a group inquiry project related to a topic, theme, or issue studied in English language arts.

- a. Determine personal knowledge of a topic to generate possible areas of inquiry or research.
- b. Formulate relevant questions on a topic to establish a purpose for gathering information.
- c. Contribute ideas, knowledge, and strategies to help identify group information needs and sources.
- d. Collaborate with others using technology to plan inquiry.
- e. Prepare and use a plan to access, gather, and record in own words relevant information.
- f. Gather information from a variety of sources (e.g., interviews, print texts, CD-ROMs, Internet) and integrate ideas in analysis.
- g. Organize information and ideas in order of priority according to topic and task requirements.
- h. Make notes in point form, summarizing major ideas and supporting details.
- i. Sort, organize, classify, and extend data using information technology tools.
- j. Adjust inquiry and research strategies to accommodate changing perspectives and availability of pertinent information.
- k. Document cited resources within presentations and composition.
- l. Use the language of inquiry (e.g., "What processes or procedures could we use?", "What criteria will we use to judge how effective the sources and processes are in addressing the topic?", "How can we prepare a presentation suitable for the purpose, audience, and situation that we identified?").

Outcomes

CC8.3 Select and use the appropriate strategies to communicate meaning before (e.g., plan, organize, and sequence ideas to fit purpose, point of view, and format), during (e.g., use and maintain appropriate point of view for audience and purpose), and after (e.g., revise final drafts and presentations to ensure that the format and patterns within that format contribute to the effectiveness of the composition) speaking, writing, and other representing activities.

Indicators

- a. Demonstrate an understanding of the creating process by preparing (pre-writing), creating drafts, revising, and creating a final copy or product.
- b. Progress through stages/phases of the creating process (i.e., before [pre-], during [drafting], and after [revising] presenting) as needed.
- c. Use several strategies before, during, and after representing, speaking, and writing including:

Before:

- consider prompt or find a topic and activate prior knowledge (e.g., consider the variables in the prompt or assignment including purpose, role, audience, topic, and focus)
- consider purpose and audience (e.g., ask questions to analyze purpose and audience)
- consider and generate specific ideas and information that might be included (e.g., formulate pertinent questions to explore and develop the topic)
- consider and choose/adapt a possible form (e.g., consider the best pattern to present ideas including cause and effect, problem/solution, opinion/reason, fact/proof, sharing experience pattern)
- collect and focus ideas and information (e.g., collect details about the topic and plan how to use them; identify gaps in ideas and information)
- plan and organize ideas for drafting (mapping and authoring) (e.g., create a pre-writing plan as a guide; consider alternative ways to organize and present ideas)
- consider qualities of effective communication and the language to use (e.g., consider the best register and point of view to use).

During:

- create draft(s) and experiment with possible product(s) (e.g., develop main idea with sufficient supporting detail; change any ideas that are not clear or complete)
- confer with others (e.g., use a peer response sheet)
- use language and its conventions to construct message (e.g., attend to the tone and sincerity; communicate in a way that sounds informative and confident)
- reflect, clarify, self-monitor, self-correct, and use a variety of “fix-up” strategies (e.g., use clear transitions to increase flow and fluency)

- acknowledge sources (e.g., cite sources )
- include sufficient detail
- experiment with communication features and techniques (e.g., consider elements of style including tone, humour, imagery, and dialogue).

After:

- revise for content and meaning (adding, deleting, substituting, and rethinking) (e.g., consider the assumptions and values presented)
- revise for organization (e.g., check that the text patterns and features are appropriate to the form of representation; review for consistent point of view; include a beginning that attracts the viewer, listener, or reader, a middle part that supports the focus, and a closing that connects everything)
- revise for sentence structure and flow (e.g., use a variety of sentences that flow smoothly and clearly from one idea to the next)
- revise for word choice, spelling, and usage (e.g., review and revise writing conventions for intended audience; use vivid verbs, specific subjects, and well-chosen qualifiers)
- proofread for mechanics and appearance (e.g., check for the rules of punctuation, capitalization, spelling, and usage)
- confer with peers, teacher, or others (e.g., use pre-determined and/or student-developed criteria for revision; revise with peers' and others' responses in mind)
- polish, practise, and decide how work will be shared and published (e.g., enhance for clarity, correctness, variety, and legibility; use blue or black ink and write neatly; check margins; use easy-to-read fonts)
- share final product, reflect, consider feedback, and celebrate learning (e.g., use a reflection sheet to think about the product, delivery, and planning for future communications).

Outcomes

CC8.4 Use pragmatic (e.g., use appropriate language register), textual (e.g., use artistic devices such as figurative language), syntactical (e.g., combine sentences to form compound and complex sentences for variety, interest, and effect), semantic/lexical/morphological (e.g., use words to capture a particular aspect of meaning), graphophonic (e.g., correctly pronounce words with proper emphasis), and other cues (e.g., arrange and balance words and visuals as well as fonts) to construct and to communicate meaning.

Note: Italicized text refers to those indicators that are emphasized at this grade level.

Indicators

- Apply consistently the conventions of oral and written language and the conventions of visual and multimedia texts.
- Use and apply language cues and conventions to communicate meaning including:

Pragmatic: Use appropriate language to participate in public events, occasions, or traditions; explain function and purpose of texts including informing, persuading, narrating, and describing; use appropriate language register (i.e., for audience and purpose); use language that demonstrates respect for others (including people of different ages, abilities, genders, cultures); use standard Canadian English that follows accepted rules of usage; avoid the personal “I/you” in formal communication; use appropriate register, role, tone, and usage; ensure voice/tone is appropriate to audience and text type.

Textual: Use structures and features of texts to communicate understanding including form/genre, artistic devices (e.g., personification, figurative language including similes and metaphors, exaggeration, symbolism), elements (e.g., point of view, conflict, theme, supporting arguments), and text features (e.g., credits, headings, diagrams, columns, sidebars, pull-quotes); use a range of standard forms for texts including paragraphs and multi-paragraph compositions; use appropriate point of view (including third person) for purpose; use common organizational patterns within texts (e.g., chronological, enumerative, problem/solution, cause/effect, comparison/contrast); craft strong leads and effective conclusions; maintain focus and ensure unity and coherence in text from beginning to end; use transition words; include covering page and list of references.

Syntactical: Ensure that sentences are complete, interesting, and on topic; use clear sentence structures that contain a verb and its subject (average spoken sentence length – 10.5 words; average length of sentences in freewriting – 10.2; in rewriting – 9.8); combine sentences to form compound and complex sentences for variety, interest, and effect; use complete sentences with appropriate subordination and modification; use subordination to show more precisely the relationship between ideas (e.g., because, although, when) and to avoid a string of compound sentences; make sentences more precise by reducing a main idea (clause) to a subordinate idea (clause); reduce, when appropriate, subordinate clause to a phrase or single word; vary sentence beginnings; ensure agreement of subject, verbs, and pronouns and use correct forms including pronouns acting as subjects and objects (e.g., “Him and his brother ...”); correctly place qualifiers; employ effective capitalization and punctuation including periods, commas, semicolons, quotation marks, colons, dashes, and hyphens.

Semantic/Lexical/Morphological: Use words that are appropriate for audience, purpose, and context and capture a particular aspect of intended meaning; use specific words and synonyms for variety; use common homonyms (e.g., whose/who’s) and often confused words (e.g., lend/borrow) correctly; use reference tools including dictionaries, thesauri, and handbooks to determine meaning of words, to check spelling, and to verify usage; recognize and use words figuratively and for imagery; spell most words correctly using Canadian spelling; use a variety of strategies and resources to learn the correct spelling of words; use knowledge of spelling generalizations.

Graphophonic: Enunciate clearly and carefully, and correctly pronounce words with proper emphasis; use knowledge of a range of spelling patterns, including sound-symbol relationships and rules, to help identify, analyze, and correct spelling errors.

Other Cues: Use volume and presentation techniques appropriate to audience and purpose; use appropriate non-verbal cues (including gestures, physical movements, facial expressions, and body language), sound effects, visuals, and multimedia aids to enhance presentation; combine print and visuals; use printing (e.g., for labels on a map) and cursive writing (e.g., for writing a report) appropriate to purpose; write legibly with appropriate speed and control; arrange and balance words and visuals as well as fonts (typefaces/print) in order to send a coherent and clear message to specific audiences.

Outcomes

CC8.5 Create and present a variety of visual and multimedia presentations including an illustrated report, a role play that ends with a tableau, a dramatization, presentation software, a newscast with adequate detail, clarity, and organization to explain (e.g., an important concept), to persuade (e.g., an opinion on an issue, a mini-debate), and to entertain (e.g., a humorous incident).

Indicators

- a. Explore ideas and express understanding using various forms of representing (e.g., storyboarding, illustrating, role playing, e-mailing, preparing a concept map).
- b. Choose appropriate medium/media to fully explore and extend ideas.
- c. Choose appropriate technology (including digital) to represent understanding and enhance communication.
- d. Design graphic organizers to demonstrate understanding of ideas and information.
- e. Use visuals (e.g., data displays) and other techniques to portray key ideas.
- f. Consider ways to enhance clarity and impact of representations.
- g. Integrate various forms of representing (e.g., music, audio tape, graphic organizer, diagram) to express understanding and to enhance oral and written communications.
- h. Experiment with representing in a variety of familiar and unfamiliar forms (e.g., presentation software, dramatization, illustrated report).
- i. Use more than one type of media in a presentation.

Outcomes

CC8.6 Use oral language to interact purposefully, confidently, and respectfully in a variety of situations including one-to-one, small group, and large group discussions (expressing feelings and viewpoints and contributing to group harmony).

CC8.7 Use oral language to effectively express information and ideas of complexity in formal and informal situations (e.g., to debate a point, to participate in a meeting, to give a dramatic reading of a poem or play excerpt).

Indicators

- a. Initiate conversation about a range of topics and respond appropriately when others initiate conversation.
- b. Engage in dialogue to understand the feelings and viewpoints of others and contribute to group harmony.
- c. Use language and tone to suit audience, purpose, and situation.
- d. Use gestures, facial expressions, and visual aids to enhance meaning of talk.
- e. Contribute ideas and information and pose questions in class discussion to gain understanding.
- f. Use talk to express and to share feelings, ideas, opinions, and responses in one-to-one, small group, and large group discussions.
- g. Give reasons for opinions and points of view.
- h. Summarize main ideas discussed and conclusions drawn.

- i. Create and deliver oral responses to texts.
- j. Deliver a focused, coherent oral presentation that includes an introduction, transitions, a logical body, and an effective conclusion as part of an individual project within a unit.
- k. Recite poems, sections of speeches, and dramatic soliloquies using voice modulation, tone, and gestures expressively to enhance the meaning.
- l. Give a dramatic reading of a poem or play excerpt and participate in Reader's Theatre.
- m. Experiment with speaking in formal situations (e.g., mini-debates, meetings).

Outcomes

CC8.8 Write to describe a landscape scene; to narrate a personal story or anecdote and a historical narrative; to explain and inform in a presentation of findings, a biography, a documented research report, and a résumé and covering letter; and to persuade in a mini-debate and a review.

CC8.9 Experiment with a variety of text forms (e.g., Reader's Theatre, role play, humorous instructions, an electronic presentation, a dramatization, a mini-debate) and techniques (e.g., imagery, music, graphics and statistics in a multimedia presentation).

Indicators

- a. Demonstrate the ability to write effective, coherent multi-paragraph (minimum of 5 paragraphs) narrative, descriptive, expository, and persuasive essays of at least 500 to 800 words using appropriate before, during, and after strategies.
- b. Create narrative texts (e.g., story, anecdote, historical narrative) as follows:
  - establish a context, plot, and point of view
  - use a range of narrative devices (e.g., dialogue, tension, suspense)
  - make the narrative engaging
  - develop character
  - develop it systematically leading to a climax or conclusion.
- c. Create expository, informational, and procedural texts (e.g., presentation of findings, a biography, a documented research report, a résumé and covering letter) as follows:
  - pose relevant questions to limit scope of presentation
  - introduce the purpose, and define a thesis
  - develop topic with important facts, details, examples, and explanations from multiple authoritative sources
  - include several paragraphs or sections organized in logical sequences
  - use transitions
  - organize and display information on charts, maps, and graphs
  - offer conclusion(s).
- d. Create descriptive texts (e.g., a landscape scene) as follows:
  - present a clear and colourful picture of the place
  - include sensory details and vivid words
  - use a logical order (e.g., near to far).

- e. Create persuasive texts (e.g., mini-debate, a review) as follows:
  - include a well-defined thesis (i.e., one that makes a clear and knowledgeable judgement)
  - provide support by reasons, explanations, and evidence
  - support opinion with examples from text
  - present a clear organization.
- f. Compose original texts (e.g., lyrical and narrative poems, letters, scripts, humorous instructions) using a variety of different literary techniques (e.g., imagery, dialogue, figurative language).

Assess and Reflect on Language Abilities (AR). Students will extend their abilities to assess and reflect on their own language skills, discuss the skills of effective viewers, representers, listeners, speakers, readers, and writers, and set goals for future improvement.

Outcomes

AR8.1 Use information gathered in self-assessment and teacher's assessment to develop and work on goals for improving viewing, listening, reading, representing, speaking, and writing.

AR8.2 Appraise own and others' work for clarity, correctness, and variety.

Indicators

- a. Evaluate the quality of own contributions to group process, and set goals and plans for development.
- b. Develop and use criteria for evaluating self, goals, and projects.
- c. Appraise own and others' work to determine the appropriateness of resource choices, language use, organization, and communication forms.
- d. Assess own and others' work for clarity, correctness, and variety.
- e. Reflect on and assess viewing, listening, and reading experiences and the strategies selected; use relevant criteria to assess viewing, listening, and reading activities; and set goals for each.
- f. Contribute to and use criteria to self-assess and set goals.
- g. Identify and analyze effectiveness of a variety of language strategies and competency level of self as a representer, speaker, and writer.
- h. Collect materials for a portfolio or e-portfolio that reflect language achievement in relation to career choices.

Assessment and Evaluation of Student Learning

Assessment and evaluation require thoughtful planning and implementation to support the learning process and to inform teaching. All assessment and evaluation of student achievement must be based on the outcomes in the provincial curriculum.

Assessment involves the systematic collection of information about student learning with respect to:

- ☑ achievement of provincial curricula outcomes
- ☑ effectiveness of teaching strategies employed
- ☑ student self-reflection on learning.

Evaluation compares assessment information against criteria based on curriculum outcomes for the purpose of communicating to students, teachers, parents/caregivers, and others about student progress and to make informed decisions about the teaching and learning process. Reporting of student achievement must be based on the achievement of curriculum outcomes.

There are three interrelated purposes of assessment. Each type of assessment, systematically implemented, contributes to an overall picture of an individual student's achievement.

Assessment for learning involves the use of information about student progress to support and improve student learning, inform instructional practices, and:

- is teacher-driven for student, teacher, and parent use
- occurs throughout the teaching and learning process, using a variety of tools
- engages teachers in providing differentiated instruction, feedback to students to enhance their learning, and information to parents in support of learning.

Assessment as learning actively involves student reflection on learning and monitoring of her/his own progress and:

- supports students in critically analyzing learning related to curricular outcomes
- is student-driven with teacher guidance
- occurs throughout the learning process.

Assessment of learning involves teachers' use of evidence of student learning to make judgements about student achievement and:

- provides opportunity to report evidence of achievement related to curricular outcomes
- occurs at the end of a learning cycle using a variety of tools
- provides the foundation for discussions on placement or promotion.

The following pages show a sample holistic rubric for assessment and evaluation of the Comprehending and Responding, Composing and Creating, and Assessing and Reflecting goals for English language arts.

Comprehend and Respond (CR)

Goal 1

Viewing, Listening, and Reading Assessment and Evaluation Criteria

Holistic Rubric

Level 6	Comprehends almost all of what is viewed, heard, and read and demonstrates a significant recall and thorough and insightful understanding of ideas, information, concepts, and/or themes.
Level 5	Comprehends most of what is viewed, heard, and read and demonstrates a good recall and clear understanding of ideas, information, concepts, and/or themes.
Level 4	Comprehends most of what is viewed, heard, and read and demonstrates an adequate recall and an adequate understanding of ideas, information, concepts, and/or themes.
Level 3	Comprehends the basic ideas of what is viewed, heard, and read and demonstrates only limited recall and a general understanding of ideas, information, and/or themes.
Level 2	Comprehends some of what is viewed, heard, and read and demonstrates an inadequate recall or limited understanding of ideas, information, concepts, and/or themes.
Level 1	Comprehends little or nothing of what is viewed, heard, and read and demonstrates little or no recall or understanding of ideas, information, concepts, and/or themes.

Compose and Create (CC)

Goal 2

Representing, Speaking, and Writing Assessment and Evaluation Criteria

Holistic Rubric

Level 6	The visual, multimedia, oral, or written composition is original and insightful. (Product is well-crafted, fully developed, and appropriate to purpose and audience. The student demonstrates confident control of the language elements of composition and presentation. Planning is evident, and the composition or presentation comes together as a secure whole. The few errors in mechanics are likely the result of risk taking.)
Level 5	The visual, multimedia, oral, or written composition is clear and thoughtful. (Product is fully developed and appropriate to purpose and audience. The student controls the language elements and techniques effectively. Planning is evident, and the composition seems complete. The few mechanical errors do not impede communication.)
Level 4	The visual, multimedia, oral, or written composition is clear and straightforward. (Product is adequately developed, appropriate to purpose, and shows some awareness of audience. The student demonstrates control over the language elements and techniques. Planning identifies main ideas. Minor errors, though noticeable, do not impede audience understanding.)
Level 3	The visual, multimedia, oral, or written composition is satisfactory but unrefined. (Product is understandable but uneven in its development. It maintains the purpose on a basic level, but may not show awareness of audience. The student shows a basic control over the language elements and techniques. Some errors in mechanics may impede understanding.)

Level 2	The visual, multimedia, oral, or written composition is limited and overgeneralized. (Product demonstrates uneven/uncertain control over the language elements relative to the purpose. It may not show awareness of audience. The student shows some control over the language elements and techniques, but attempts at complicated or sophisticated structures and variety results in awkwardness and/or obscured meaning. Less than adequate planning results in inconsistent development. Frequent mechanical errors impede understanding.)
Level 1	The visual, multimedia, oral, or written composition is unfocused and unclear. (Product is difficult to follow. The purpose is unclear, and the subject may be off topic. Evidence of planning is absent. The composition shows an uncertain grasp of the basic language elements relative to the purpose. Sentences are incomplete, run-on, or simple in structure. Frequent mechanical and structural errors impede understanding.)

Goal 3

Viewing, Listening, and Reading Assessment and Evaluation Criteria

Holistic Rubric

Level 6	Executes task-relevant strategies before, during, and after a viewing, listening, or reading task; monitors use of strategies; explains which strategies are being used and why these strategies are being used; models strategies for others; explains what to do when comprehending and responding; identifies own strengths and learning targets; explains own strategies for improvement.
Level 5	Feels confident using task-relevant strategies before, during, and after a viewing, listening, or reading task in a variety of situations; utilizes a repertoire of strategies spontaneously and switches easily from one to another as determined by needs; may have difficulty explaining precisely the strategies to others.
Level 4	Demonstrates an awareness of a range of task-relevant strategies before, during, and after viewing, listening, or reading; senses when there is a comprehension breakdown and makes an effort to correct; uses a repertoire of responding behaviours but these may be hindered by comprehension breakdown.
Level 3	Is able to use, with practice and teacher support, some important before, during, and after viewing, listening, or reading strategies; understands the task and the necessary strategies but does not always deploy the strategies when they are needed; may not alternate or change strategies smoothly to have comprehension but can do so with support; responding behaviours may not be as well developed.
Level 2	Is able to use a few key before, during, and after viewing, listening, and reading strategies with teacher direction but does not always benefit from the strategies or apply them to new tasks; struggles to determine own needs and to select appropriate strategies; comprehension problems may hinder responding behaviours.
Level 1	Requires repeated modelling of before, during, and after viewing, listening, and reading strategies and requires continuous coaching on when and how to use them.

Assess and Reflect (AR)*Goal 3*Representing, Speaking, and Writing Assessment and Evaluation Criteria*Holistic Rubric

Level 6	Executes task-relevant strategies before, during, and after a representing, speaking, or writing task; monitors use of strategies; explains which strategies are being used and why these strategies are being used; models strategies for others; explains what to do when composing and creating; identifies own strengths and learning targets; explains own strategies for improvement.
Level 5	Feels confident using task-relevant strategies before, during, and after a representing, speaking, or writing task in a variety of situations; utilizes a repertoire of strategies spontaneously; uses strategies and aspects of the process spontaneously but not always able to explain what and why; identifies own strengths and possible learning targets.
Level 4	Demonstrates an awareness of a range of task-relevant strategies before, during, and after representing, speaking, or writing; uses only some strategies appropriately or with confidence and independence; understands the task and the key strategies needed to complete the task successfully; has strengths but not assurance.
Level 3	Able to use, with practice and teacher support, some important before, during, and after representing, speaking, or writing tasks; understands the task and the necessary strategies but does not always deploy the strategies when they are needed; is developing strengths.
Level 2	Able to use only a few key before, during, and after representing, speaking, or writing strategies without teacher direction but may seldom benefit from the strategies or apply them to new tasks; few strengths.
Level 1	Requires repeated modelling of before, during, and after representing, speaking, and writing strategies and requires continuous coaching on when and how to use them; lacks independence and strategies to carry out task.

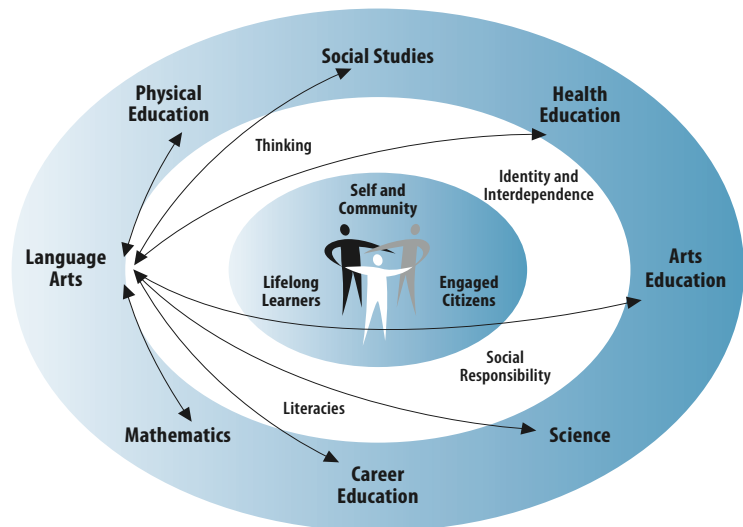

Sample Student Learning Tactic Targets
Holistic Rubric
	Comprehend and Respond	Compose and Create	Assess and Reflect
Level 4	I understand almost all of what I view, hear, and read. I can explain the explicit and implicit messages in a text. I can explain how the ideas are organized and how the conventions and techniques achieve a particular effect. I can provide an insightful interpretation and give strong evidence to support my response.	My compositions and presentations are original and insightful. The message demonstrates a deep understanding of the subject matter. It is well-crafted, fully developed, coherent, and appropriate to my purpose and audience. The language is consciously well chosen and well used.	I can confidently explain, monitor, and use a range of strategies before, during, and after I view, listen, read, represent, speak, and write. I can explain and model these strategies for others. I can also set goals to improve.
Level 3	I have a clear understanding of what I view, hear, and read. I understand the overall message, key ideas, and their supporting details. I have a clear understanding of how the text is organized and recognize the key conventions and techniques used to achieve an effect. I can provide a thoughtful interpretation and give reasonable evidence to support my response. I try to set goals to improve.	My compositions and presentations are clear and thoughtful. The message has a clear focus, and the details are relevant and appropriate for the audience and purpose. The message is sufficiently developed and logically sequenced. The language is appropriate, clear, and substantially correct.	I can confidently use a range of strategies before, during, and after I view, listen, read, represent, speak, and write. I understand the task and can use my strategies to successfully complete it. I cannot always precisely explain my strategies to others.
Level 2	I understand most of what I view, hear, and read. I understand most of the important ideas and details that support them. I recognize how the ideas are organized and the key conventions and techniques that are used. I give an adequate interpretation and provide some evidence to support it.	My compositions and presentations are clear and straightforward. The message is focused and the details appropriate for the audience and purpose. The message is planned and has a good sequence. The language is appropriate, clear, and substantially correct.	I can use and explain a number of the important strategies that I use before, during, and after I view, listen, read, represent, speak, and write. I understand the task and know how to use most of the strategies that I will need to complete the task successfully.
Level 1	I understand some of what I view, hear, and read but can't recall most of it. I do not always understand the conventions and techniques that are used. I usually give a simple or inadequate interpretation and give little evidence to support it.	My compositions and presentations are basic. They are not well planned or presented. The message is not always clear or well organized. The language is acceptable but not always clear, correct, or appropriate for my audience and purpose.	I can use and explain a few strategies that I use before, during, and after I view, listen, read, represent, speak, and write. I do not always understand the task or know which strategies I will need to use to complete it successfully.

See the Ministry of Education website for additional rubrics that provide criteria for assessment and evaluation of each of the three goals for English language arts.

Connections with Other Areas of Study

Although some learning outcomes or subject area knowledge may be better achieved through discipline-specific instruction, deeper understanding may be attained through the integration of the disciplines. Some outcomes for each area of study complement each other and offer opportunities for subject-area integration. Integrating language arts with another area of study can help students apply their language skills and strategies and deepen the breadth and depth of their language learning.

By using a particular context and identifying a common theme to use as an organizer, the outcomes from more than one subject area can be achieved and students can make connections. Integrated, interdisciplinary instruction in a thematic unit, however, must be more than just a series of activities. An integrated unit must facilitate students' learning of the related disciplines and their understanding of the conceptual connections. The unit must address each individual subject area's outcomes and ensure that in-depth learning occurs. If deep understanding is to occur, the unit cannot be based on superficial or arbitrarily connected activities (Brophy & Alleman, 1991). The outcomes and activities of one area of study must not be obscured by the outcomes or activities of another area of study (Education Review Office, 1996, p. 13).

See the Ministry of Education website for suggestions regarding opportunities where topics, concepts, and outcomes for different areas of study might be integrated.

Glossary

Contexts are broad organizers for balancing an English language arts program by ensuring different perspectives and ways of knowing are included at each grade level. All instructional units should be related to one or more of the five contexts identified in the English language arts curriculum. The five contexts are (i) personal and philosophical, (ii) social, cultural, and historical, (iii) imaginative and literary, (iv) communicative, and (v) environmental and technological. These contexts also allow for interdisciplinary integration.

Convention is an accepted practice or agreed-upon rule in spoken, written, or representational language.

Cueing Systems are sets of cues or clues built into the structure or patterns of language and communication texts.

Discourse is a continuous stretch of communication longer than a sentence.

Efficacy is producing or ensuring the desired effect; power or capacity to produce desired effect; effectiveness in operation; effective as a means of addressing an issue, question, challenge, or problem.

Genre is an identifiable category used to classify texts, usually by form, technique, or content (e.g., novel).

Grade-appropriate Texts are oral, visual, multimedia (including electronic), and print texts designated as being appropriate for shared, guided, and independent viewing, listening, and reading at a specific grade level. These texts are intended to reflect curriculum outcomes at different levels of difficulty, in different genres, and from different cultural and social perspectives.

Gradual Release of Responsibility (Scaffolding) is instructional support that moves students in stages from a high level of teacher support to independent practice.

Graphic Organizer is a visual means by which the relationships between and among ideas are portrayed (e.g., a Venn diagram).

Graphophonic cues and conventions refer to the sounds of speech (phonology) and how these sounds are organized in patterns, pronounced, and graphically represented (spelled).

Indicators are representative of what students need to know and/or be able to do in order to achieve an outcome. Indicators represent the breadth and the depth of the outcome. The list provided in the curriculum is not an exhaustive list. Teachers may develop additional and/or alternative indicators but those teacher-developed indicators must be reflective of and consistent with the breadth and depth that is defined by the given indicators.

Inquiry involves students in some type of “research” on a specific topic, problem, or issue for learning and action. Inquiry is a way of opening up spaces for students’ interests and involving them in as many different aspects of a topic, problem, or issue as students can find.

Language Literacy, in a contemporary view, is broader and more demanding than the traditional definitions that were limited to the ability to read and write. Literacy now includes the capacity to accomplish a wide range of viewing, listening, reading, representing, speaking, writing, and other language tasks associated with everyday life. It is multimodal in that meaning can be represented and communicated through multiple channels - linguistic (including print), visual, audio, and multimedia (including digital media).

Listening is attending to and getting meaning from what is heard using cognitive processing including associating ideas, organizing, imagining, and appreciating what is heard; the receptive form of oral language.

Metacognition is the ability to think about and reflect on one's own thinking and learning processes.

Multimedia Texts are texts that use a combination of two or more media (i.e., audio, images, video, animation, graphics, print text, digital applications). Multimedia texts can encompass interactive texts and complex interactive simulations.

Other Cues and Conventions associated with effective communication include handwriting, font choices, graphics, illustrations, layout, and additional enhancements such as colour, sound, and movement.

Outcome is a statement of what students are expected to know and be able to do by the end of a course in a particular area of study at a particular grade level. Outcomes are not optional.

Portfolio Assessment is a compilation of evidence collected over time of a student's learning. It demonstrates the student's efforts, progress, and achievement. A portfolio can be cumulative, working/developmental, or showcase in nature.

Pragmatic cues and conventions refer to the style of language that is used in a given context and take into consideration the communication purpose, situation, and audience. The pragmatic cueing system is often considered to be the social aspect of language.

Questions for Deeper Understanding are questions that are thought provoking, probe a matter of considerable importance, and require movement beyond present understanding and studying. They often lead to other questions posed by students.

Reading is an interactive-constructive process in which readers comprehend, interpret, and respond to print text using the cues and conventions of that text.

Register (language) is a socially defined variety of language such as conversational, informal, formal, frozen, or slang.

Representing is conveying information or expressing oneself using verbal or written means as well as non-verbal visual means such as drawings, models, graphics, photography, dramatization, video, or physical performance.

Rubrics offer criteria that describe student performance at various level of proficiency. They provide guidelines for judging quality and makes expectations explicit. Holistic (yield a single score or rating) and analytic (yield feedback on specific dimensions or features) rubrics can be used to judge the degree, understanding, or proficiency revealed through students' products or presentations.

Semantic, Lexical, and Morphological Cues and Conventions refer to the meaning and structure of words.

Skill is an acquired ability to perform well and proficiently.

Speaking is the act of communicating through oral language. It is the act of transmitting and exchanging information, ideas, and experiences using oral language in formal and informal situations. Speech is the expressive form of oral language.

Strand is one of the core elements of an integrated English language arts program. The six language strands identified in this curriculum are viewing, listening, reading, and representing, speaking, and writing.

Strategy is a systematic plan for solving a problem or executing a task.

Syntactical cues and conventions refer to the structure (word order) and parts of sentences and the rules that govern the sentences (e.g., subject-verb agreement).

Text is any form of communication, whether oral, written, visual, or multimedia (including digital media), that constitutes a coherent, identifiable unit or artefact (e.g., poem, poster, conversation, model) with a definable communicative function. It refers to printed communications in their varied forms; oral communicating, including conversations, speeches, dramatizations; and visual communications such as illustrations, video, and computer displays.

Textual cues and conventions refer to the type or kind of text and the features that are associated with its organization.

Theme is an overarching idea, question, or topic that is developed in a unit and provides a focus and frame for the unit. The theme acts as a unifying concept through which all the content, skills, strategies, materials, and actions for both teachers and students can be organized.

Unit (an instructional unit) is a focused and organized block of time that helps students through a variety of experiences, lessons, and texts. It is planned to help students achieve a set of outcomes for an area of study. A multi-genre thematic or topical unit is built around a theme or topic and includes a range of oral, visual, multimedia (including electronic), and print texts. A multi-genre inquiry unit is built around important questions or issues that students want to learn more about through research. A genre unit is focused on a specific genre of text (e.g., narrative) and an author unit is focused on the work of a particular author or illustrator.

Viewing is attending to and getting meaning from communication conveyed by visual representation including pictures, signs, video, charts, drawings, diagrams, sculptures, mime, tableau, drama/dance, and performances.

WCPM stands for Words Correct per Minute.

Writing is a recursive process of recording language graphically by hand or other means to explore and communicate ideas, information, and experiences. The writing process consists of many aspects including planning, drafting, revising, and publishing.
